Money woes worry city, schools

By HARRY BARNES
Press-Record Staff Writer

A warning that Granite City will face difficult money problems during the last quarter of its current fiscal year was sounded Tuesday night as city finance officials took steps to bring city spending in compliance with budget limitations.

The warning was backed by an announcement by Mayor Paul Schuler that he has notified all city department heads by letter that purchases during the remaining three months of the present fiscal year—February, March and April—will require purchase orders cleared through City Clerk Robert Stevens.

The mayor's announcement came after Alderman Warren Decatur, a member of the City Council's Finance Committee, told the aldermen that most city departments are spending "far beyond their budgets" and that unless a halt is called the city could find itself without funds in some accounts as the fiscal year draws near an end.

Mayor Schuler responded to Decatur's remarks by noting his action in sending letters to the department heads of the purchase order requirement.

"We have used this policy occasionally in the past. It gives us a better handle on the control of expenses," the mayor said.

At the same time, the council placed on first reading an ordinance to amend the 1978-79 budget. The ordinance had been scheduled for final passage action, but Mayor Schuler noted that most

Medical center is established

The Quad-City area now has a major medical center.

The name of St. Elizabeth Hospital is being changed for the new year to St. Elizabeth Medical Center, although it will be some time before all the records and forms have been changed to reflect the new title.

Purpose of the name change, authorized by the hospital's board of directors, is to more accurately portray the role of the health complex in the 2100 block between Madison and Washington avenues.

Along with diverse hospital and trauma services, the center provides offices for many physicians, surgeons and specialists. It is one of the largest and most modern health institutions in the St. Louis metropolitan area.

The financial "crunch" experienced by Granite City School District 9 in recent years will increase drastically in the next few years, due to the elimination of the personal property tax on corporations and a $1,500 assessment reduction being offered all Quad-City residents who own the homes in which they reside.

A special meeting of the Granite City Board of Education has been called for 7:30 p.m. Monday, Jan. 29, at the board office to discuss ways in which the district can "make ends meet" in the future.

Among the items likely to be discussed are a bond issue for building repairs and improvements, streamlining of the sports program, better staff utilization, more intense use of existing facilities, contracting with outside firms to provide some services now provided within the district and others.

The district already has attempted to cut the sabbatical leave program for teachers, which has resulted in arbitration and now will go into court.

Four teachers were denied sabbatical leaves and appealed the denials to an arbitrator. The arbitrator ruled the leaves should be granted, if they are in the best interests of the school district, and then ruled the four seemed to be in that category.

At the regular meeting Tuesday night, the board decided to have attorney Harold Baker, who handles much of the district's legal work dealing with personnel, file a suit in Madison County Circuit Court challenging the ruling of the arbitrator.

In what was said to be an unrelated action, the board decided not to sign an option for the purchase of land at Route 111 and Kaseberg Lane due to "market conditions."

Previously, the board gave Superintendent B. J. Davis authority to sign an option for purchasing about 10 acres of land from Richard Buenger in Pontoon Beach, but Davis said he never signed the option due to inability to reach terms on the exact boundaries.

It was noted the district planned to purchase the land using funds built up from interest on a previous bond

71% of GC crimes solved

The Granite City Police Department accomplished a record year during 1978, solving 71.2 percent of all crimes reported, Chief of Police Ronald Veizer said in an annual report released Tuesday.

In a notation to members of the department, Veizer said:

"This is probably the best year our department has ever had and each and every officer and all employees of the Police Department should be gratified and proud. Congratulations and thank you."

While the number of major crimes in eight categories fell slightly during 1978 below the total of 1977, the department solved by arrests a total of 1,804 cases during the 1978 year.

Veizer reported there was a total of 2,532 major crimes reported during the past 12 months, a drop from 2,996 cases reported during the 1977 year.

Officers during the year solved 1,804, or 71.2 percent, of the caseload, or 274 cases more than the 1,530 cases solved during 1977.

The largest percentage increase in any single crime category last year was in forcible rape. A total of 11 cases was reported during the year, up from four such cases the previous year.

Of the total number of 1978 rape cases, the police solved nine of them by arrests. During the 1977 year, police solved three of the four cases reported.

Chief Veizer's report said two homicide cases occurred during 1978, the same number as in 1977. All homicide cases were solved in both years.

Thirty-one robberies were reported during 1978, Veizer's report showed, with 18 of them cleared by arrests. During the previous year there were 28 robberies, of which ten were solved.

Assault cases during the past year increased to 302 from 266 in 1977. Of the 1978 assault cases 239 were solved, compared with 200 cleared by arrests the previous year.

Burglaries declined slightly last

Eighteen senior citizens of Venice, working in the Senior Aide program may be without jobs in March, according to Louis Rabin, director of the National Council of Senior Citizens in Washington, D.C.

Rabin said, "One-to-one service simply is not permitted. One senior aide should be helping anywhere from four to six clients. The program was not meant to be subsidized long-term service."

The program is being administered locally by Belleville Area College (BAC) and the city of Venice currently is receiving 20 percent of the entire program administered by BAC for the National Council of Senior Citizens, according to Rabin.

A Venice spokesman, Izola Robinson said, "These people are not providing a maid service. They are caring for people many of whom, if the service was not provided, would have to be institutionalized."

Venice Alderman Tyrone Echols said at Tuesday's action meeting, "This seems a very harsh action on the part of the National Council of Senior Citizens. Since these people are from Washington, D.C., I feel we should get in immediate contact with Congressman Mel Price."

Case for, against lounge is debated

Granite City Mayor Paul Schuler, acting as the city's liquor license commissioner, will have four days from today in which to rule on the status of the Upper Level Lounge, 19th and State streets, following a City Hall hearing yesterday which lasted four hours.

Assistant City Attorney John Papa led the argument for revoking the lounge's license and presented nine witnesses who testified to 12 disturbances in and around the lounge.

The license holder, Joseph Stemmer, also was called to testify on an allegation he filed an inaccurate affidavit with the court while applying for a temporary restraining order to keep police from enforcing a seven-day suspension of the license early this month.

Stemmer contended that a Jan. 7 disturbance was the result of an auto accident in front of the tavern, and denied talking to a police officer at the scene.

Granite City Patrolman David Rosenberg earlier testified he saw no auto accident near the lounge and did speak to Stemmer at the time of the disturbance. Stemmer did not mention any auto mishap, the officer contended.

Witnesses also included six other police officers, a dispatcher and Larry Dunn, a witness to one alleged disturbance who was subpoenaed by the city to testify.

As officers reviewed the police reports of each incident, Stemmer's attorney, former St. Clair County state's attorney Robert Rice, pointed out that most incidents either took place in the public street or on the sidewalk, and not in the lounge.

Those which did occur in the lounge were the result of Stemmer or employees attempting to remove or bar someone from the lounge to prevent trouble, Rice emphasized.

Officers testified to disturbances on May 15, July 22, 29 (two on that date) and 31, Aug. 11, 19 and 21, Dec. 2, 11 and 27 of 1978, and Jan. 7 of this year.

Rice presented a closing argument in which he contended the police were unable to prove that lounge officials or employees acted wrongly in any of the incidents. He stressed that none of the fights were the result of "troublemakers" being allowed to enter or stay in the lounge.

He said the city's contention that Stemmer erred in preparing the affidavit for the court was inconclusive.

Mayor Schuler took several motions under advisement, including a motion to dismiss the charges, and must make his ruling on the status of the license by Monday, five days after the hearing.

The Upper Level remains open, as both an earlier order by Schuler revoking the license and a temporary suspension order are under appeal to the state liquor license control commissioner.

'Junior Miss' at state

By PAT FOLEY
Press-Record Staff Writer

Miss Bonnie Luebbert, Granite City's 1979 Junior Miss, is in Bolingbrook, Ill., this week, keeping busy with a full schedule of activities and interviews.

She is the local entrant in the state competition of the Junior Miss Program which will take place Saturday and Sunday, Jan. 20 and 21.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Luebbert, Bonnie is a senior at Granite City High School South. She is a member of the National Honor Society and the Student Council.

Miss Luebbert was crowned Nov. 5 after competing with nine other senior girls from Granite City High Schools North and South.

The long week of activities began Sunday afternoon in Bolingbrook with the Simplicity sewing competition. Due to the inclement weather which kept many of the girls from reaching Bolingbrook in time for the competition, the winner of the segment of the state competition will be announced Saturday evening.

The finals of the statewide program has been divided over two days since 22 girls will be competing for the title, making the performing arts segment and other competition too long for one day.

Miss Luebbert will compete in the poise and appearance (both casual and long-dress) segments and also the youth fitness portion of the program Saturday evening, and will compete in the creative and performing arts segment Sunday afternoon prior to the announcement of the 1979 Illinois Junior Miss.

Acceptance by peers — valuable to children

By CATHERINE R. MAUCK
 Madison County Extension, Adviser, Home Economics

As children grow older, they generally spend more time with their age-mates. Age-mates or peers are an important socializing agent in children's lives.

Activities with peers provide children opportunities to try out different roles. Through trial and error, children learn how it feels to wear the shoes of a leader, a follower or a clown.

Peer reaction serves to encourage or change behaviors. For example, a group may taboo crying over being hurt and label such behavior "sissy." Peer values are a serious matter, since a youngster must accept them in order to be accepted as a member.

Peers also serve as models for one another. Peer associations often determine slang expressions, likes and dislikes, emotional responses and ideas of fashion.

Children watch one another, they imitate and practice what they've observed. Young children who are fearful of dogs have shown less fear after seeing an age-mate with a dog.

Children, with strong dependency behaviors have exhibited self-help behavior in the presence of more independent peers.

In mixed groups, older children frequently initiate and maintain activities. Older children serve as teachers to their younger peers in many neighborhood play groups. But it is important for younger peers also to have opportunities to be in play groups where they are the older children.

In peer groups, children share secrets, and explore ideas and the world around them. They explore one another's family and ethnic values.

Peers teach giving and taking decision-making, and other important social development skills. Most adult-child relationships are authoritarian by nature. Adults necessarily have the final word because they are responsible as providers and protectors of children.

But with age-mates, children can interact as equals. Peers can debate decisions. They can make and alter plans.

Age-mates get a feeling of power and control from this interaction.

Access to age-mates, acceptance by them and constructive interactions with them are important to a child's social and emotional development.

Long-term studies have shown a relationship between poor childhood peer relations and future emotional problems.

How children see themselves depends partly on how others see them. Children who are liked and accepted by other children tend to feel positive toward themselves.

Top Brass to perform at BAC

The "Top Brass," one of the area's most popular bands, will perform a free concert at Belleville Area College tonight at 8 o'clock in the theater.

Musicians affiliated with Local 29 of the American Federation of Musicians bring free concerts to the community two Thursdays each month through the facilities of the college.

The series was arranged through the General Studies Division of the college and is funded through a grant from the Music Performance Trust Funds, a public service organization created and financed by the recording industries under agreement with the AF of M.

The program for Jan. 18 will include such old favorites as "Satin Doll," "St. Louis Blues," and "Proud Mary," and a pop version of the country hit, "I Can't Stop Loving You." The 90-minute concert will feature "Top Brass" arrangements of 18 perennially popular selections.

No admission will be charged. Concert goers will find the theater on the second floor of the college which is located at the intersection of Illinois 163 and Green, Mount Road, approximately three miles west of Scott Air Force Base.

Charge is dismissed

Associate Judge P. J. O'Neill has dismissed a charge of reckless homicide against Jimmy L. Creek, 41, of 2109 Louisa St.

Failure by the Illinois State Police to send a trooper to preliminary hearings two weeks apart was blamed for the dismissal, sources said.

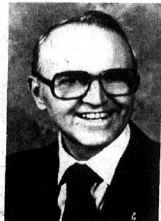

Mrs. Faye Agnes Lee, 64, of Kaseberg Park, Pontoon Beach, died in an auto accident on Illinois Route 162, a half-mile east of State Aid Route 35, when the auto in which she was a passenger collided with Creek's auto Nov. 19. Three persons were injured.

WILBUR SAYLES

Trinity's lay music mission

A lay music mission will take place at Trinity United Methodist Church, East 25th Street and Henry, this Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Services will be at each evening and at 10:40 a.m. and 7 p.m. on Sunday.

The mission is described as featuring the message and challenge of Christ, brought by Wilbur Sayles through song and the spoken word, combined with the music of the cordovox.

The cordovox is a combination instrument. It is played like an accordion, but has the sound of the accordion and organ in combination. The effect is regarded as one of greater depth and expression. A lay music mission is called a different concept of presenting the Gospel, through a new worship experience.

Sayles will lead and accompany congregational singing, bring special songs, including hymn stories, prayer songs, memory songs and youth songs interspersed with words and witness.

Sayles is a member of the First United Methodist Church in Austin, Minn. He is a past chairman of the State Conference of Methodist Men.

The recording artist, song writer, and author, has traveled throughout the U.S. and in several foreign countries.

An "afterglow" with refreshments will follow each evening service.

Madison's Belleville Area College center resignation is being extended through next Monday, Jan. 22.

Classes for the spring semester began this week. Coordinator Charles Steptoe reported.

Prospective students may register in Madison High School Room 109 tonight from 6:30 to 9 p.m.; and Monday, Jan. 22, from 6:30 p.m. to 9 p.m.

Also attending the session were Quad-City area bank officials and representatives of savings and loan firms which, under the mortgage loan plan, would issue the loans and then sell the loan paper to a trustee handling the city program.

Arvil Taylor, administrative aide to Mayor Paul Schuler who has been handling details of the program, said all of the lenders as well as those council members attending the meeting appeared favorable to the concept and suggested further details of the plan be worked out.

Further meetings are planned to discuss the program and keep city officials informed as the plan is developed, Taylor said.

Woman dies, 2 hurt in crash

Mrs. Anna Skubish, 66, of 1025 Iowa St., Madison, was killed when the auto in which she was a passenger was involved in an accident on Route 3 at the Missouri Avenue interchange (formerly the junction of Route 3 and Route 151) at 11:20 a.m. Wednesday.

Her husband, Alex Skubish, 70, and the other driver, Herbert McCartney, 31, Alton, were injured and were taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

Mrs. Skubish was removed from her husband's car by Granite City Fire Department rescue workers who used the "jaws of life" tool to open the passenger door. She was pronounced dead at the scene by Madison County Deputy Coroner William Stenberg at 11:44 a.m.

Ambulances, police and rescue workers were delayed in reaching the scene due to confusion over the highway numbers. The call was first received for Route 3 near A. O. Smith Corp. Police checked Missouri Avenue, which formerly was designated Route 3, and found no accident.

They then checked the former Route 151, which the Illinois Department of Transportation renamed Route 3 in 1977 and located the vehicles, which were more than a mile north of the A. O. Smith plant.

Witnesses said the Skubish auto was southbound on Route 3 and turned left toward Missouri Avenue when it was struck on the passenger side by McCartney's northbound car on Route 3.

McCartney's vehicle came to rest facing south in the northbound lanes with the front end torn off and laying on the east shoulder, where the Skubish car stopped.

Mr. Skubish, president of the Granite City Steel Credit Union and retired business agent for Steelworkers Local 30, suffered a bruise to his head, abrasions to his lips and nose, cuts to his head and face, left knee and right hand, a bump to his left elbow and pain to his back and hips. After a series of X-rays, he was admitted in fair condition.

McCartney suffered cuts to his lower lip, face, neck, back and head and injuries to his jaw and wrist and was admitted in good condition.

Mrs. Skubish, the former Miss Anna Komarovski, was born in St. Louis and resided in Madison 60 years. She was retired after 15 years as a cook in the Granite City Steel cafeteria. She was a member of St. Mary's Catholic Church.

Surviving besides her husband are two daughters, Mrs. John (Audrey) Donoff of St. Louis and Mrs. Howard (Anita) Roberson of Granite City; three sisters, Mrs. Lena Slechta of Laguna Hills, Calif., Mrs. Anthony (Mary) Lapinski and Mrs. Joseph (Bernice) Lapinski, both of Granite City, and six grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements may be found in today's obituary column.

Slain in robbery

Marvin Fourt, 25, of Glen Carbon, formerly of Granite City, was shot fatally in an apparent armed robbery of the Burger Chef Restaurant, at 85th and State Street, East St. Louis, between 11 p.m. Monday and 4 a.m. Tuesday.

His wife, Linda, woke up at 3:30 a.m. Tuesday morning and became concerned when her husband was not home. After calling the store and several friends, she called East St. Louis police.

Mr. Fourt was found by police inside the restaurant, apparently shot three times. The telephone had been taken off the hook.

Born in Granite City, he lived here until age 10.

Mr. Fourt served in the U.S. Army until August 1978 and went to work for the restaurant chain after leaving the service.

He belonged to the Glad Tidings Church in Caseyville for several years, and was a student at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

In addition to his wife, survivors include his two young daughters Allison and Beth; two half-brothers, Donald Schneiddele of East St. Louis and Emil Schneiddele of Granite City; two half-sisters Mrs. David (Marie) White of Highridge, Mo., and Mrs. Forest (Dolly) Derickson of Chillicothe, Mo.; and his parents Mr. and Mrs. Eugene (Brida) Fourt of Lebanon, Mo. Funeral services were scheduled for 1 p.m. today at an Edwardsville funeral home.

Burial will be at Valley View Cemetery in Edwardsville.

Secretaries to switch to teachers' federation

Granite City School District secretaries, who have unanimously resigned from their union, Local 98 of the Service Employees

International Union, asked the Granite City Board of Education Tuesday night to sever them from that local as their bargaining agent and to call for an election so they can select a new union. Secretaries who attended the board meeting told the members of the board that they wish to join the American Federation of Teachers, Local 743, which represents Granite City's public school teachers. A petition from the secretaries was presented to the board, officially requesting a union election. Secretary Linda Miles told the board, "There is not one secretary left in the union. Those who were still in the union withdrew yesterday (Monday)." Shirley Stoll of the AFT told the board that Local 743 has voted to accept the secretaries as "an affiliate chapter of counsel" which will negotiate its own contract with the board and which will have its own negotiating team. Following an executive session, the board announced agreement to terminate the contract and then voted to notify Local 98 that it is ready to begin negotiations on new contracts for custodians and cafeteria workers.

Blood drive Jan. 26

A blood drive will be held Friday, Jan. 26, at St. Elizabeth Medical Center as a phase of National Blood Donor Month during January, it was announced Wednesday.

Hours will be from 11:30 a.m. to 4:15 p.m. in the Weisman Room at the Medical Center.

Those who plan to give blood may obtain further information by calling Ruth Partney at 798-3251 at St. Elizabeth's.

January was proclaimed National Blood Donor Month by President Jimmy Carter who is a multi-gallon blood donor. Each president since 1970 has supported the cause with proclamations and letters.

"In the five years since this nation approved as a goal an all voluntary supply of blood for everyone in need, millions of Americans have donated blood. And, although the need for blood has increased greatly during this interval, we are now closer than ever to achieving full success," President Carter said.

January is a crucial month for the blood program. Routine surgeries always increase during that month. At the same time severe weather and hazardous driving conditions cause many blood drives to be cancelled, Red Cross officials said.

The Red Cross urges all healthy people to give blood, so that the region's 146 hospitals can continue to have a safe, adequate blood supply, the spokesman said.

Special hours for city tags

Office hours to allow Madison residents to obtain city vehicle licenses has been increased, according to City Comptroller Albert Hudak.

The stickers are available Monday through Friday at the Madison City Hall, 1529 Third St., Madison, from 8:30 a.m. until 4 p.m.

The comptroller's office will be open on three Saturdays from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m. Jan. 20, 27 and Feb. 3.

From Monday, Jan. 29, until Friday, Feb. 2, the office will stay open until 6 p.m.

Auto stickers will increase in price on Monday, Feb. 5, from $3 to $5, and police will start issuing traffic citations for those without the city license beginning Feb. 5.

State treasury gets unclaimed tobacco taxes

Attorney General William J. Scott has turned over checks totaling $809,525 to the Illinois treasurer's office, ending a decade-long legal battle over the 1969 Illinois Tobacco Products tax act.

The monies represent funds collected pursuant to the act — which was declared unconstitutional shortly after its passage — but which were never claimed by persons entitled to refunds.

Three separate suits were filed against the tax, and a tax protest fund was established.

About $2 million was collected during the pendency of the case. After the act was declared invalid, the American National Bank of Chicago was appointed trustee of the protest fund and made refunds to about 25,000 persons.

The $809,525 which was left in the fund was returned to the state and has been sent to the treasurer for the general revenue fund.

Vandals damage new apartments

Damage estimated at more than $1,850 was caused in three apartments at a new building under construction at Briarcliff Avenue and West Ponton Road. It was reported Monday.

Wilbur Pryor of the Windfield Construction firm, contractors, said six 36-inch windows were smashed and holes had been kicked in the dry wall surfaces.

Empty beer cans and bottles were found in the apartments, and obscenities had been scratched on the walls, Pryor said.

Seeks food stamps, gets meal in jail

A man allegedly refused to leave the Granite City Township Center, 2060 Delmar Ave., Monday without receiving food stamps and was arrested and charged with disorderly conduct.

Stephen T. Breeze, 25, of 2154 Edison Ave., was given a food stamps application form and told to complete the paper and return at a later date.

Allegedly, Breeze declined to leave the office, saying his veteran's agent had told him to stay until he got the stamps.

After being advised to leave several times by a police officer, or face arrest, Breeze allegedly replied, "Fine. At least I'll get a meal," according to police. Despite further urgings to vacate the building, Breeze allegedly remained seated in a chair until taken into custody and escorted to jail.

Breeze was served dinner at 12:20 p.m. Monday while in the Granite City Jail. He appeared before a judge at 3:30 p.m. Monday, pleaded innocent and was released on a $500 recognizance bond.

Theft charged in check case

Eugene Curtis Swafford, 31, of 1701 Third St., Madison, was charged with theft in an informational document issued Friday afternoon by the Madison County state's attorney's office.

Swafford, also known as Larry T. Connor with addresses in St. Louis and East St. Louis, was arrested Thursday at First Granite City National Bank.

Police said a bank officer alerted them that Swafford was at a teller's window at the time. The man allegedly had deposited checks drawn on two St. Louis banks which reportedly were "no good."

The bank official said Swafford initially opened an account with $50 under the name, L. T. Connor listing the Madison Address, on Jan. 2. He then deposited three checks on Jan. 8 for amounts of $350, $375 and $85. On Jan. 5, Swafford allegedly withdrew $45, on Jan. 8, he took out $20 and on Jan. 9, he withdrew $70.

The Granite City bank was informed the $350 and $85 checks were "not good" on Jan. 10, police reported.

On Thursday, two Granite City officers went to the First National Bank asked Swafford to come to the police station for questioning.

The man said his wife was waiting in the parking lot and one officer went to find the woman.

Police said Swafford was being escorted to police headquarters, across Niedringhaus Avenue from the bank, when he started running.

The detective accompanying him ordered him to halt, but Swafford failed to do so and a warning shot was fired into the air.

Swafford stopped and was handcuffed. He was taken to the police station and charged.

Hanging basket can be a focal point of one's home

By WAYNE B. SIEFERT
Area Adviser, Horticulture

A hanging basket in one's home can become the focal point of that part of a room. When it's near a window, it provides an indoor view in addition to the normal "outdoor" view.

If you want to try a hanging basket, consider a Spider Plant, Swedish Ivy, German Ivy or Wandering Jew. Here are some of the details.

Spider Plant, or Airplane Plant (chlorophyllum) produces a dense clump of narrow, curving leaf blades. Its trailing characteristic develops from runners that produce small, new plants at their tips. Spider plants, although tolerant of poor conditions, produce runners more abundantly in good light.

Reasonable care includes medium light and medium humidity. The roots will eventually develop "peanut sized" tubers.

Swedish Ivy (plectranthus) is a vigorous growing, creeping or hanging vine with lush succulent leaves. Some varieties are solid green while others have variegated leaves.

Although they survive pretty well in poor light conditions, best growth is produced with medium light and constant moisture.

Swedish Ivy needs to be pruned back occasionally to keep the plant bushy. New plants are easily started by rooting slips.

German Ivy (senecio) is a fast growing ivy with bright green, ivy shaped leaves. It needs good light and cool conditions for best growth.

German Ivy needs to be pruned occasionally to maintain a bushy growth.

German Ivy may become chilled and "burn" if kept too close to windows during the winter. New plants can be rooted in water or fresh potting soil.

Wandering Jew is the common name for a collection of trailing vines that have attractive foliage colorations. All of the varieties are fast growing and tolerate most adverse conditions. They must be pinched back occasionally to maintain bushy growth. New plants can be rooted in water or fresh potting soil.

All hanging basket plants require good care.

Soil moisture needs to be monitored every day or two to avoid wilting and leaf burn.

In addition to regular watering from the top, hanging basket containers should be occasionally submerged in warm water and soaked for a few minutes.

The soaking and draining process ensures that the soil will be evenly wetted, and helps to remove any excess fertilizer.

41st Crippled Children's Ball

The 41st annual Crippled Children's Ball will take place at 9 p.m. Saturday, Jan. 27, it was announced this week.

The public ball traditionally is sponsored by the Venice Crippled Children's Organization to help support work at the Shriner's Hospital for Crippled Children, the Shriner's Burns Center and the Organization for Aid to the Handicapped (OATH), among other groups.

The ball will be held at the Venice-Madison American Legion Home, 740 Broadway, Venice.

Tickets costing $2 each currently are available from most Venice residents, or may be obtained at the door on the night of the dance. Jack Tolliver is ticket chairman.

Music for dancing will be furnished from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. by Joe Sherwood's Orchestra.

The theme of this year's dance is "Mickey Mouse." Serving as co-chairmen of the decorating committee are Jenine White, Marsha Byrnes and Jerry Schodroski.

In addition to the ball, the Venice organization also is planning a "road block" project from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, Jan. 27, at Broadway and Highway 3.

Seeking donations from passing motorists will be members of the Venice Volunteer Fire Department and Venice-Madison American Legion Post 307, under the leadership of Bill Meehan and Ray Freeman.

"Question Mark" canisters also may be seen at area business places for donations.

Pete Wilkinson and Harold Koelker Jr. are responsible for the distribution and collection of the canisters and may be contacted by persons wishing to have a canister in their place of business.

Refreshments at the ball will be under the supervision of Jack Lee and Tom Fields, with Mrs. Evelyn Tolliver as chairman of the cake committee.

Others serving as chairmen of different committees for the ball include: George Mangiaracino, music; Virginia Hargis, contests; Roseann Koelker, program books; Clifford Caver and John Mangiaracino, cloakroom; Leo Davinroy, floor manager; Valeta Bauder, public relations; and Rosemary Cooper, Margaret Lee and Diana Scherris, booster committee.

Current officers of the Venice Crippled Children's Organization are: Lloyd

Puppies, kittens at Saturday's adoption

A 1-year-old silver Persian cat is among the animals being offered for adoption Saturday by the Association for Protection of Animals.

Unless the weather is extremely severe, the non-profit humane group will hold its adoption from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday, at 2851 Washington Ave.

Should severe weather prevail, the clinic will be postponed until the next Saturday, Mrs. Connie Becerra, adoption supervisor, said today.

In addition to the silver Persian, also to be offered for adoption are two white kittens, a 4-month-old pit bull, five puppies, eight weeks old, which are half Labrador and half German Shepherd.

A 1-year-old female calico cat, spade, and a 1-year-old dog, also spade, which is about the size of a large beagle.

Patterson, president; Tom Fields, vice president; Milton Morris, treasurer; and Roseann Koelker, secretary.

Buente to forego alderman's salary

Acting Mayor E. H. Buente of Venice instructed City Comptroller Carl Byrnes Tuesday night that he is relinquishing his salary as alderman and will accept only the salary paid to the mayor.

Buente is one of two aldermen in Ward One and still holds that position as well as that of acting mayor until the April 17 election when a new mayor will be elected.

The council at its Tuesday evening meeting approved the following fire department officers: William Dumas and Thomas McCoskey as assistant fire chiefs; Thomas Scaturro as captain, Gerald Sugg as fire marshal and Harold Koelker Jr. as chaplain.

The question of naming two assistant fire chiefs was raised by Alderman John Ervin who said the budget only allows for one to be paid.

It was explained by Fire Chief William Meehan that only one is paid, but internally the fire department has two assistant chiefs for command purposes at fires and in administrative duties.

The council was informed by letter that the Madison County Community Development Board and the William A. Thomas firm have signed contracts to do a feasibility study for a possible private housing project in Venice.

The possibility of building 137 multi-family units with private funding in Venice is the focus of the study.

Reviews Caldwell book

Mrs. Mildred Jungels reviewed the book, "Captains and the Kings" by Taylor Caldwell, at last week's meeting of the Junior Bay View Reading Club.

The event took place at the home of Mrs. Marge O'Neill, 2102a Pontoon Road.

Mrs. Jungels, president, conducted a brief business session prior to the program.

Members responded to a call with a humorous item or cartoon feature.

Registration for talk on state taxes

Robert L. Mandeville, Illinois budget director and a former budget administrator for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, will discuss tax reform measures at a public forum.

"Alternatives to Tax Revolt: The Changing Face of Local Finance," Thursday, Jan. 25, from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Collinsville Holiday Inn.

His address, "Tax Revolt: Implications for State Government," will discuss the impact of tax reform on state financial and service capabilities.

Interested individuals are invited to attend the forum, sponsored by the SIUE Center for Urban and Environmental Research and Services, East-West Gateway Coordinating Council, League of Women Voters of Illinois, and League of Women Voters of Metropolitan St. Louis.

Registration is $10 and covers all materials and a luncheon.

Contacts are Eleanor Ellis and Michael Quinn at CUERS, 692-3032, and Judy Studer at East-West Gateway, 274-2750.

The reviewer stated, "Captain and the Kings is dedicated to the young people of America who are rebellious because they know something is very wrong in their country, but do not know what it is."

The historical and political backgrounds of the novel are authentic, but the Armagh family, around which it centers, is fictional, she said.

There is indeed a "plot" against the people and probably always will be for government has always been hostile toward the governed," says the author.

After the program, Mrs. O'Neill served a dessert course to Ann Little, Marguerite Lexow, Velma Neuman, Olga Tarpoff and a guest, June Cuchna.

Mrs. Peggy Koerper will serve as hostess for the February meeting.

council members had not yet seen the bill. The mayor suggested it be placed on first reading, copies sent to all council members and further action scheduled for the next council session Tuesday, Jan. 23.

Among other things, the budget amendment adds $190,932 to the budget for the Police Department and increases the Fire Department budget $104,103. Other changes involve a series of decreases in some budget items and increases in others.

Several aldermen noted that most of the city money difficulties appear to be due to salary requirements and Alderman Sam Whitmer of the Second Ward asked if it were true that about 75 percent of the city's income is going for salaries.

Arvil Taylor, administrative aide to Mayor Schuler, replied that the latest figures he compiled show that city salaries take about $4.2 million a year against a maximum income from all sources amounting to approximately $7.9 million.

In response to a question by Alderman Gerald Parmley of the Sixth Ward, Taylor noted that the salary figures do not include fringe benefits and that they do not include the revenue and outgo of the city's sewage treatment system which is operated separately from other accounts with revenue received from sewer and sewage treatment fees.

Parmley pointed out that the salary figures alone show expenditures of about 50 percent of the city revenue for salaries.

"But when you add the fringe benefits, overtime, sick leave and paid insurance policies, we are running about 75 to 80 percent for salaries," Parmley noted.

Whitmer displayed a page of the bi-monthly claim sheet for the sewage treatment plant, pointing to a list of salary items and expenditures.

"It's easy to see that the big part of the money goes for salaries and the treatment plant is one of the bigger spenders," Whitmer said.

The claim list for the sewage treatment plant for the first half of January showed expenditures of $14,579, while the payroll showed salaries for 33 employees at the treatment plant amounting to $22,576 for the first half of the month. Further problems can be expected this year as a result of changes in regulations for the Comprehensive Employment Training Act (CETA) which will mean that many public employees will be laid off in September, Mayor Schuler told the aldermen.

Under changed manpower rules, the city no longer will be able to use CETA employees in jobs for which the salary is more than $10,000. In addition, CETA employees will be employed for no more than 18 weeks, or one and a half years. Those assigned to city jobs prior to last year will be laid off in September this year.

"I have received information from the county manpower office showing we now have 52 CETA employees," Mayor Schuler said, noting that these employees are paid about $500,000 in manpower funds per year.

"When layoffs become necessary, we will have to set up priorities as to which of these jobs the city will take over. I think we'll have to retain at least half of them as essential, such as emergency medical technicians who operate the ambulances," the mayor said.

Senior aides

program are all over 55 years of age and normally work 20 hours a week, or four hours a day Monday through Friday. The aides are paid from city and federal grant funds.

The guidelines, according to the Washington spokesman call for the aides working at one home two hours and another home two hours, doing light work.

The aides are not supposed to go to the grocery store for the people they are helping, take them to the doctor, or do the washing for the people who can not do it for themselves.

The problem began when Toni Quarles, regional representative for the National Council of Senior Citizens, made an inspection tour of the BAC-administered programs and objected to the Venice "one-to-one" concept.

According to Madeline Simpson, coordinator of the program at BAC, she will meet with Venice residents and work with them and the National Council of Senior Citizens to see if a compromise on the services could be reached.

Ravin said Wednesday morning it is someone else's job to take care of these people, even though they may be invalid or blind.

A petition headed "Humane Petition" is being circulated throughout the city which reads as follows:

"We, the undersigned, residents of the city of Venice and Madison, County of Madison, and State of Illinois, do hereby petition The National Council of Senior Citizens and Ms. Toni Quarles (in particular), to reconsider the displacement of the Venice Senior Aides Homehelpers, employed within and around this community.

"They have proven themselves to be an irreplaceable and invaluable asset to this city and to the various service agencies that have utilized their services directly or indirectly. To discontinue their service would (in a lot of cases) be inhumane, an economical disaster and a social catastrophe. They have fulfilled their pledge of 'being their brother's keeper'."

The petitions will be turned over to BAC at the end of the month bearing as many signatures of Venice residents as it is possible to obtain.

When the program first started in September 1977, Venice was allowed five workers.

However, a request based on what the Venice Council thought was a need for more workers was made and granted by the Washington-based group.

The report listed a total of 170 auto thefts last year, down from 199 the previous year, with 33 of the 1978 cases solved. During 1977, police solved 27 auto thefts.

For the traffic division, Veizer reported there were four traffic deaths in Granite City last year, up from two the previous year. There was a total of 179 accidents in which 659 persons were injured last year. This compared with 593 injury accidents during 1977, in which 672 persons were injured.

Property damage accidents during 1978 totaled 1,548, up from 1,506. Police made 4,456 arrests during 1978, and filed 538 additional charges in those arrests, making a total of 5,023 arrests for the year. Of the total of 4,465 arrests, 3,025 were on traffic charges, and 1,440 on other charges.

issue—funds which could not be used for educational purposes.

Davis stressed when the board first voted Nov. 7 to take an option on the property there were no plans to construct a school, in the foreseeable future, but the board felt the land would be an excellent investment for the interest funds.

There are funds available from interest on the bonds sold to construct Granite City High School North and Johnson School, records show. Davis said that money could be used to reduce the size of a future bond issue, if the board decides to sell bonds to make major repairs and improvements to most of the district's schools.

It is believed a new bond issue could be approved which would not increase taxes, since the $4.75 million in bonds approved in 1969 for construction of the two schools will be retired the end of this fiscal year, Davis said.

Hold man in cafe shooting

Richard Randolph Chamberlain, 26, East St. Louis, was arrested at his home Monday and was charged with two counts of murder in connection with the shooting of two persons Dec. 21 during a armed robbery at the Mexico City Cafe, Fairmont City, and the wounding of three other patrons.

Edward Campbell, 35, and Mary Prestito, 39, were fatally wounded when three gunmen forced the customers and employees to lie on the floor and then opened fire with their weapons.

Injured were Mrs. Carmen Scheib, 63, Juan Solis, 48, and Nicholas Rangel, 55, all of the Fairmont City and East St. Louis area. Rangel, who is the only one of the three who remains hospitalized, is a former resident of Madison.

The Illinois Division of Criminal Investigation (DOC) investigated the case and sought murder warrants from the St. Clair County state's attorney's office after surviving victims studied police "mug shot" photos and alleged Chamberlain was involved. DOC Agent Jerry Johnson said his agency has identified another suspect, who is being sought. Chamberlain was being held without bond this week in the St. Clair County Jail, Johnson said.

American Heritage Bank in 20th year; increases dividend

"The directors of the American Heritage Bank are proud of the accomplishments in 1978. Not only was it an exceptional growth year for the bank, but several innovations in operations helped make it a profitable year as well.

"As a result, we are pleased to announce an increase in the stockholder dividend," said William M. Kozak, acting chairman for the bank's stockholder meeting held Wednesday.

"We are also pleased to announce," he continued, "that American Heritage Bank will celebrate its 20th anniversary in 1979.

"This marks 20 successful years of meeting the financial needs of our community. Part of our way of celebrating will be to seek out new and better ways to assist our customers."

Kozak then called on Robert H. Karandjeff, the bank's vice-president and cashier, to outline new services instituted during the past year.

Karandjeff explained, "New ways of giving additional service to our customers are always being explored, the objective being to give maximum service at a minimum cost to the customer.

"Ways we have thus far achieved this include our Bank-By-Phone, which helps the customer to handle many banking transactions right from his telephone; and The Club, which is a package banking program giving the customer no-charge checking, personalized checks, $10,000 accidental death insurance and numerous other benefits.

"We have also instituted Direct Deposit, which is a means for people receiving government or pension checks to have their checks automatically deposited into their savings or checking account.

"We also now offer the Individual Retirement Account, a personal pension plan for the worker not covered by any retirement plan.

"Both of these new services have received exceptional response."

Announcement was next made of the re-election of the bank's directors and officers.

Directors re-elected were: Ernest R. Bickhaus, Dr. Apostle D. Karandjeff, Henry D. Karandjeff, Robert Henry Karandjeff, Paul H. Kelly, William M. Kozak, Robert A. Maddox and Kiro Vassiloff.

Officers of the bank re-elected were: Henry D.

Karandjeff, chairman and president; Robert Henry Karandjeff, vice-president and cashier; Charles J. Baricovic, vice-president; Frank J. Palank, assistant vice-president; and Helen Mangoff, Charlotte McBride, Darlene Palovchik and Jon Teague, assistant cashiers.

TWO ARRESTED

Gary Lee Bazzell, 22, of 206 Kirkpatrick Homes, was released on $100 cash bond at 9:20 a.m. Saturday on a charge of disorderly conduct. Betty Nance, 28, of 2137 Alton Ave., Madison, was released at 9:43 a.m. Saturday on $100 cash bond after being charged with obstructing a police officer. The charges followed a disturbance at 1:43 a.m. Saturday at Pete & Mary's Tavern, 2409 Lincoln Ave.

Employment in Illinois shows drop

Illinois unemployment rose during December, passing the 6 percent mark for the first time since last August.

According to federal figures, unemployment in the state reached 6.5 percent for December, up from 5.8 percent the previous month. This means 349,000 persons who are able to work were unable to find jobs last month, compared to 314,000 without work in November.

Steven Singer, administrative assistant for the Bureau of Employment Security, said the decline apparently was due to a slowdown in construction work because of bad weather, and layoffs of seasonal workers.

An informational document charging theft was issued Friday afternoon by the Madison County state's attorney's office in Edwardsville against Ronald C. Clark, 25, of Cahokia.

Clark allegedly stole two Garcia Ambassador casting reels, valued at $180 and $120 each, from Central Hardware store, 1 Crossroads Plaza Shopping Center, shortly after noon Thursday.

The man allegedly gave a false name to Granite City police, following his arrest at the store, officers said.

Sheriff running a 'tight ship'—ultimately best in Illinois?

By JUDY TAPLIN

"There is no longer a cloud hanging over us... although we still have a long way to go to be exonerated by the public," is how a long-time member of the Madison County Sheriff's Department describes present conditions there.

That law enforcement officer, who asked not to be identified, says there is a feeling of relief among deputies now that Emil Toffant has become sheriff. Despite a number of new rules and regulations, the atmosphere in the sheriff's department is relaxed and filled with enthusiasm.

"The sheriff probably wouldn't want me to say this, but our goal is to be the best police department in the state within two years," the officer told a reporter.

When Toffant took office last month, morale in the department was at an all-time low; former sheriff John Maeras and Capt. John Cooper had been indicted on federal conspiracy and obstruction of justice charges.

What has Toffant, in little more than a month, done to start the department back on the road to public trust and acceptance?

Since the first of January many procedures have been changed and tighter control of the entire operation has been seen already.

The sheriff's merit commission has been expanded from three to five members, and the commission rules upgraded. An accident review board has been set up.

Process servers are now under command of one person.

An officer has been named to check out all automobiles and uniforms, and all credit cards have been called in. Toffant won't criticize his predecessor, but others say the department under Maeras was run in a hazy fashion.

Toffant's changes are an effort to bring greater professionalism to the department and, with it, higher morale.

The sheriff says the changes are going to save the county some money, too. How do the deputies react to the tighter controls?

"People seem to be accepting the changes pretty well," a sheriff's deputy said. "Most of these men realize the need for professionalism... most of them welcome it."

Toffant says the department was "loaded with credit cards" when he took office. "Seemed like everyone had Master Charge."

With the credit cards gone, deputies will pay some of their own expenses and then bill the department.

Toffant says demise of the credit cards will shorten times of trips out of state to deliver or return prisoners elsewhere.

The trips previously lasted as long as two or three days; now they usually take only one day.

The out-of-state trips are being spread around so that everyone in the department will get a chance to do a little traveling now and then, the sheriff says.

Toffant initiated the new accident review board after a number of deputies had been involved in accidents.

Lt. Jack Ladd, Sgt. William Jenkins, Deputy Donald Aebischer and Rita Foster, the county's safety director, make up the review board.

The board hears details of the accidents and then recommends whether disciplinary action should be taken and, if so, whether it should be light, moderate or severe.

It all is a step toward responsibility, the sheriff says, with responsibility an important part of being a professional.

The sheriff's department has added a number of steps for hiring new deputies. After an exam, there are an oral interview, a background investigation and a polygraph exam.

Greg Homyer, who had been a dispatcher in the sheriff's department under Maeras but who had quit after failing to win a job as a deputy, probably was the first new deputy ever to have a background check, Toffant says.

Homyer and Richard Anderson, a deputy fired by Maeras, were hired shortly after Toffant took office.

The sheriff considers

Anderson's return to the department a reinstatement. Anderson had been one of several deputies cooperating with the federal government in a lengthy investigation of the sheriff's department.

Maeras later fired Anderson for allegedly making slanderous statements about him (Maeras).

Toffant has sent letters to 39 persons who passed a recruiting exam in 1977; any of the 39 still interested in becoming a deputy is being considered for employment, he said, and will have a background investigation run if he indicates an interest.

Sgt. John McLagen has been named as automotive equipment officer.

He will personally check all vehicles to make sure equipment is in order and not damaged, and will hand out all uniforms.

"These things are two of the most expensive areas in the sheriff's department," Toffant notes. Until January, Toffant notes, the department had been a haphazard operation, he said.

There are other changes in the department. A night shift for detectives has been created, and a beefed-up detective force will be on duty every day and night of the week, including weekends.

The top positions under Toffant are now held by two men brought in by the new sheriff. Edwin Knezevich is director of administration (Mr. Inside, as the sheriff refers to him), Fred Bright (Mr. Outside) is director of operations.

Former Chief Deputy Robert Rizzi has been assigned to supervise the Madison County jail; Cooper is working a midnight shift at the jail.

One bill question remains for Toffant. Are there current members of his department who will be implicated during the approaching trial of Maeras, Cooper and fundraiser Leland Stoller?

That trial is scheduled to begin Feb. 5.

The sheriff declines to discuss the matter, but says he will follow the trial with interest. Federal authorities have indicated that their investigation of the department is continuing.

Despite the trial and the possible revelations it may provide, Toffant continues to move the department ahead.

His month and a half in office have been interesting, he says, and more changes appear on the way. "We've got a lot of ideas to improve the department."

Veterans benefits mounted in '78

More emphasis on priority medical care for service disabled veterans, an improved pension plan for low-income disabled veterans, and improved home loan program were some of the highlights of 1978 veterans benefits, according to Veterans Administration chief Max Cleland.

Congressional action went far to make 1978 a banner year for veterans, Cleland said.

In the closing weeks of the 96th Congress, legislation was enacted improving the VA pension program for veterans and their survivors.

Beginning Jan. 1, 1979, this legislation sharply increased payments to needy veterans with nonservice-connected disabilities, and their survivors, from the previous sub-poverty level to variable payments supporting income levels of as much as $6,781 a year for a veteran and his wife, plus $600 a year for each child.

At the same time the act allows for eventual savings by limiting pension payments to the truly needy.

Other legislation with broad support provided a 7.3 percent increase in VA compensation payments for more than two-and-a-quarter million veterans, a quarter of a million surviving spouses and 92,000 children of deceased veterans.

The year also saw:

A special $900 monthly allowance to allow certain seriously disabled veterans to employ a skilled health care practitioner whose aid and attendance in the home is necessary to keep the veteran out of the hospital.

A special monthly payment of $175 for veterans who suffered a service-connected loss of one extremity or its use, and who have subsequently lost the paired extremity from nonservice-connected causes.

A new payment of $45 monthly for surviving spouses receiving disability and indemnity compensation benefits and who are so disabled as to be confined to their homes.

A broadening of the eligibility base for allowances to dependents of veterans with service-connected disabilities. The allowance will be paid to veterans with 30 percent or more disability, whereas it formerly went only to veterans who had 50 percent or more disability.

The GI Bill continued to be a major attraction among VA's varied benefits program. More than 1.6 million veterans, their dependents and active duty servicemen and women pursued a variety of educational goals under the program.

In Fiscal Year 1978, VA spent $3.2 billion on education benefits under what has easily been one of the most popular programs ever conceived by the federal government.

In another area, VA opened two new cemeteries during 1978 with the dedication of Calverton National Cemetery on Long Island, N.Y., and the National Cemetery in California, the latter Veterans Day.

The two new cemeteries are the first in a VA program to expand the National Cemetery System, which currently consists of 105 cemeteries across the nation.

The agency already has acquired land in Massachusetts, Pennsylvania and Virginia for additional cemeteries, and is now considering sites in the Great Lakes and southeastern areas of the country for two more.

During 1978, VA took the first steps to computerize the agency's files on veterans. Regional offices in 13 cities were linked via a computer system called Target with data processing centers in Illinois and Texas.

In 1979, VA hopes to place the remaining 45 regional offices into the computer network, which now contains about five million compensation and pension records and an index and locator file on approximately 30 million veterans.

Full computer processing of benefits claims is expected by the end of next year. Cleland said he was particularly proud of the agency's special project to provide distinctive personal identification cards to more than two million service-disabled veterans.

"Veterans disabled in military service are of prime concern to VA," he said. "These special ID cards will expedite the care they receive at VA medical centers and will serve as a constant reminder to our employees as well as to veterans themselves that they are special people entitled to special care from their government."

The VA administrator also cited the agency's "Operation Better Letters" and "May I Help You?" campaigns as examples of internal efforts at improving employee awareness of the unique role veterans and their dependents hold in the nation.

Both projects involved major efforts to stimulate employee helpfulness and courtesy in dealing with veterans and their families and Cleland termed both of them as "outstanding successes."

VA and the Congress also cooperated in 1978 to provide more assistance to veterans in the area of home ownership.

The VA guarantee on home loans was increased to $25,000 from $17,500, and the active duty time needed by Vietnam Era veterans to qualify for VA home loan benefits was reduced to 90 days from 181 days.

Also, Cleland pointed out, VA is now permitted to guarantee loans on apartments converted to condominiums, where previously the agency could only guarantee loans on condominium units that were built as such.

Price called guardian of the nation's defense

Rep. Melvin Price, chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, has received a special recognition from The Retired Officers Association for "distinguished service to the nation."

Colonel Donald Foster, USAF-Ret., executive vice-president, and Colonel George Hennrikus, USAF-Ret., chief legislative counsel, presented a plaque to Chairman Price "in recognition of his devoted service to the national defense."

Price has represented Illinois' 23rd District here for over 34 years, having served the last four years as head of the House Armed Services Committee.

The Retired Officers Association (TROA), with a membership of over 260,000, is an independent, nonprofit organization which represents retired officers of all seven uniformed services in matters affecting their rights and entitlements.

Marlene Jerls, 44, dies

Mrs. Marlene F. (Mitchell) Jerls, 44, of 102 Rogers Drive, Collinsville, a native of Granite City, died Monday at St. Mary's Medical Center in Richmond Heights (Clayton), Mo.

She had been ill for the past three years and was hospitalized at St. Mary's for two weeks.

Born in Granite City, Mrs. Jerls lived here until two years ago when the family moved to Collinsville.

She was a member of Trinity Pentecostal Church in Fairview Heights, where her husband, the Rev. Charles Jerls, who survives, is pastor.

Beside the Rev. Jerls, she is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Arnold (Cynthia) Massey of Granite City; one son, Kevin Lee Jerls of Collinsville; a sister, Mrs. Wayne (Irma) Beedle of Collinsville; and her mother, Mrs. Jessie (Louise) Gosh of Granite City.

Services are being held today. Details are given in the obituary column.

DISTINGUISHED SERVICE AWARD. Colonel Donald Foster (right), executive vice-president of the 260,000-member Retired Officers Association, congratulates Cong. Melvin Price (center) of this district for his service to the military community. Colonel George Hennrikus, chief legislative counsel for TROA, is at the left. The Retired Officers Association presented a special plaque to Price in recognition of "long and valuable service to the national defense."

Venardos industrial legislative chairman

While state lawmakers prepare for the new spring session, a local group of manufacturers also is gearing up for the legislative action ahead.

Members of the Southwestern Illinois Industrial Association have elected John P. Venardos as chairman of their Legislative Affairs Committee. That announcement was made this week by Donald F. Cairns, vice-president of Granite City Steel and chairman of the SIIA.

Venardos, governmental affairs representative for Laclede Steel Co., will replace outgoing Committee Chairman Lawrence B. Maher, manager of public affairs at Olin Corp. in East Alton.

In discussing his goals for the Legislative Affairs Committee, Venardos has pledged to "build on the foundation begun under Larry Maher." Venardos credited Maher with several innovations which assist SIIA in monitoring legislation.

"Among these is our tracking system, whereby members can readily determine where key bills stand," Venardos said. He indicated that he hopes to see SIIA develop greater rapport with all area lawmakers, in an attempt to "maintain an open dialogue."

"SIIA represents not only the local industry serving Southwestern Illinois but, more importantly, SIIA represents the very economy of the area."

"If our companies are going to be able to continue to do business, and thereby provide thousands of jobs, then we must reach out to our legislators for help from time to time, as we seek solutions to common problems," Venardos said. He is married and resides in Alton.

Robert J. Walters is executive director of the SIIA.

Endorse mobile home permits

The Madison County Zoning Board of Appeals is recommending that the Madison County Board grant special use permits to continue the placement of two mobile homes in Chouteau and Nameoki townships.

Following on-site public hearings, the zoning board voted to endorse the request of William and Peggy Worley and Charles W. and Barbara W. McDowell for a permit to continue the placement of a mobile home on "Chouteau Island, in a flood hazard area, for up to five years and for the sole occupancy of the McDowell family."

The zoning board also recommends a permit be granted to Charles Van Vleet to continue the placement of a mobile home at 2001 Fifth St., East Madison, which is in Nameoki Township, for the lifetime of the occupant, and that a second permit be approved which would allow construction of a two-car garage on the site, if the normal building permit application is approved.

New Gateway Arch director

Jerry L. Schober, superintendent of the Golden Gate National Recreation Area in San Francisco the past four years, has been named new superintendent of the Jefferson National Expansion Memorial (JNEM) National Historic Site in St. Louis.

The appointment, effective Feb. 11, was announced by J. L. Dunning of Omaha, Midwest regional director for the National Park Service (NPS).

Schober will succeed Robert S. Chandler, who left recently to become the first superintendent of the newly authorized Santa Monica Mountains National Recreation Area near Los Angeles.

In his new position, Schober will be in charge of such JNEM facilities as the Gateway Arch, the Museum of Westward Expansion and the Old Courthouse.

Born 47 years ago in Vicksburg, Miss., Schober graduated from Mississippi College in Clinton with a bachelor degree in history.

Wood River logical site for plant to convert coal to gas to electricity, meeting future energy needs

Because the Wood River electricity-producing plant of Illinois Power Company a few years ago was willing to be the "guinea pig" for one of the ill-fated pollution-fighting experiments, a catalytic system, there is considerable logic in also using it for a new environmental program that may prove to be more successful—coal gasification.

It is proposed to convert high-sulfur Illinois coal into gas suitable for use in production of electric power.

As the Carter administration has been saying for many months, the eventual answer to fuel needs undoubtedly is going to involve some form of heavy utilization of this state's and nation's vast coal reserves.

With Illinois being asked by Governor James Thompson to provide $18 million in coal and energy development bonds as a stimulus, it would be highly appropriate for the president to add his support to the $100 million pilot plant proposal. The facility would be built jointly by Allis-Chalmers Corporation, developer of the gasification technology, plus Illinois Power and ten other electric utilities.

The overall goal, to which all Quad-Cityans and Americans can give enthusiastic endorsement, is "research on the development of environmentally acceptable and economically feasible ways" to use coal and provide needed energy.

Education is big business in Illinois; figures show that state isn't overspending on its public schools

In the light of recent economic-related developments, such as Proposition 13, double-digit inflation, and the increased cost of living, State Superintendent of Education Joseph M. Cronin has taken a look at where Illinois stands in its support for elementary and secondary education. How does Illinois compare with other states in expenditure for education?

Dr. Cronin has just given this answer to the State Board of Education: How does Illinois compare with other states in major factors of education—students enrolled, wealth and expenditure for education? Illinois ranks high in the number of students being educated. It is fourth in the nation in school-age population and fifth in public school enrollment. The state's total population also is fifth largest.

We also rank high in the number of school districts—our 1,013 districts put us as fourth highest in the nation.

Illinois ranks fourth nationally in income per pupil in average daily attendance, and in the number of fulltime instructional staff members. Only California, New York and Texas rank higher. We have the resources: Illinois is third in the United States in the amount of total personal income and total disposal income, and fourth in farm income.

But our revenue per public school pupil ranks in eighth place, as does the 1977 figure for average teacher salary, $14,657. The 1978 average salary dropped to tenth place. While expenditure per pupil for teaching ranked fifth in 1977, we dropped to seventh place in 1978.

Teacher salaries in Illinois have increased at a rate below the national average. Between 1968 and 1978, salaries rose by 75 percent, a rate that ranks as 45th in the nation. Illinois' average instructional salary has dropped to tenth place in the nation in 1977 at $15,073.

The number of pupils per teacher is at the national average and Illinois ranks 24th in the nation in that category.

For comparison purposes, Illinois ranks 8th in the nation in per capita expenditure for police protection, 15th for fire protection and 19th in expenditures for local schools. The state is 29th for highways, 35th for health and hospitals, and 30th for state and local expenditure for higher education as of 1976.

While we have high total and disposable income in Illinois, our tax revenues are below the national average—state and local combined. With Illinois 23rd in 1975-76, State and local revenues as a percentage of personal income that year were 12.7 percent or in 41st place among the states.

Illinois schools are not among the most expensive. We rank 30th in the nation in school year (178 days, compared with 180 or more in 24 states), 30th in expenditure per pupil for transportation ($49 per pupil), and 38th in the percentage of children participating in federal lunch programs (51 percent).

Spending for all school costs in 1977 was $45 per pupil, 15th place, but dropped to tie for 7th place (with Wisconsin) in 1978 at $2,058. The state share of spending on education dropped from 47 percent in fiscal '77 to 44 percent in '78—on 24th place to 28th place. This loss was offset in part by aggressive pursuit of federal funds, which raised Illinois' percentage of federal dollars for schools from 31st in the nation to 24th place at 9 percent.

What do these statistics tell us? We are a "lower spending" on education in Illinois. Rigid and arbitrary tax limits could further reduce the standing of Illinois education, as well as other public services.

Illinois is a comparatively wealthy state with a balanced tax system and comparatively frugal expenditures. Except in several suburban counties, tax increases have been modest since 1973.

As they look at needs, costs and values, Illinois policymakers should consider education in the light of these facts and keep in mind that education is not only a cost but a value—a wise investment in youth, in the economy and in the future.

Confirm Alton as trial site

U.S. District Judge J. Waldo Ackerman has ruled that the February trial of former sheriff John Maeras, Capt. John Cooper of the sheriff's department and Leland Stoller will be held in Alton.

Judge Ackerman ruled Tuesday against a motion by Stoller's attorney, Michael Costello of Springfield, which sought to have the trial moved. Attorneys for Maeras and Cooper indicated they preferred Alton as site for the trial, which is slated to begin Feb. 5.

County to make own car repairs New filings in city races

Madison County soon will maintain its own vehicle rather than contracting with dealerships and repair firms for all maintenance, the Madison County Board decided yesterday morning. The board approved a resolution offered jointly by the Central Services and Finance committees establishing a vehicle maintenance department which will repair all county vehicles, including sheriff's department patrol cars.

The two committees were charged with creating a detailed plan for beginning the department and presenting that plan to the board in March for approval. Initially, the department will handle routine maintenance and repairs while wheel alignments, major body work and other tasks requiring expensive special equipment will be contracted out to other firms.

It is hoped that eventually, funds can be found in the county's budget to purchase special equipment, so the vast majority of vehicle repairs can be done by the maintenance department.

In other business, the board called on Illinois Attorney General William Scott to explain why he had agreed to relaxed air pollution emission standards for Union Electric generating plants in Missouri.

Board members contended the relaxed standards may result in additional air pollution in Madison County and will reduce the amount of Illinois coal the plants will burn.

Additional filings for the April 17 city elections in Madison and Venice include: Madison Ward Three, aldermanic candidates who have filed as of today are Pete Kosteki Sr., Steve Graklanoff and Robert L. Grieve.

Aldermanic race, Madison Fourth Ward, Paul A. Besserman and Louis "Luke" Krause. In the Venice aldermanic race candidates are Ward One, John Mangiaracino and Earl Hogan; Ward Four, Dave Barrett, and Ward Two, incumbent George Mangiaracino.

Milton Morris is the only candidate to file, thus far as a candidate for mayor of Venice.

In Pontoon Beach, a ticket of candidates known as the Pontoon Progress Party and headed by Donald Patrick as candidate for board president, filed nominating petitions with Village Clerk Mary Warren.

In candidates to Patrick, aldermanic candidates are Wilma Bowen, for village clerk; and Richard G. McIntosh, David L. Johnson and Dean "Doc" Rochester as candidates for board trusteeships.

One additional filing in the Granite City April 3 city election also filed. He is Darmond Broyles, a candidate for alderman in the Fifth Ward.

Jack Hood filed petitions as a candidate for the Granite City Park Board.

Chouteau concerned Trespass by car alleged

Concern over repeated use of Granite City ambulances by a few Chouteau Township residents who will not pay them, city officials have said they will discontinue ambulance service to townships which do not agree to guarantee full payment for ambulance runs.

The board also discussed the possibility of a joint lawsuit by the taxing bodies in Chouteau and Nameoki townships against the recent annexation by Granite City of a 427-acre industrial tract of land and the trustees agreed the township's electors should be asked at the annual town meeting in April if they wish to commit tax funds for the legal fight.

Named to dean's list

Many area students have been named to the Dean's List at Belleville Area College for the fall semester. To be selected for honors, a student must have a grade point average of 3.0 or better on the college's 4.0 system. For high honors, a 3.5 average or better is required.

College aid to be easier

A new federal law will make it easier to qualify for college aid this year, but students may have to contact SUE in person to get the forms too high, he said.

John Jennetten, director of Student Work and Financial Assistance, said the Middle Income Student Assistance Act will expand the basic grant program to include many independent students and previously ineligible students from families with incomes up to $25,000.

But the size of the application forms and the no-fold requirement for machine processing makes the cost of mass mailing the forms too high, he said.

As a result, students who currently receive some type of financial aid will not income Student Assistance renewal forms through the mail this year.

WEAPONS CHARGE
Robert William Sorenson, 20, of 1939 Grand Ave., Apt. D, was arrested at 5:30 p.m. Monday on a warrant charging unlawful use of a weapon. He appeared before a judge at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday, pleaded innocent and was released on payment of $2,500 cash.

Donald D. Dawson, 17, of 1401 Norwood Drive, placed innocent to five charges, including criminal trespass to a motor vehicle, following his arrest at 7:25 p.m. Monday in the 3000 block of East 23rd Street.

Dawson allegedly was found by an officer attempting to get out of a 1976 Cadillac belonging to Larry Crismon, owner of Crismon Motors, 2905 E. 23rd St., who had parked his vehicle in the alleyway, a few minutes earlier.

The auto was mired in a snowdrift, opposite the Salvation Army Center, 3007 E. 23rd St., when police noticed the car. A man inside was having difficulty getting out due to the auto being tilted on an incline.

After the individual climbed from the vehicle, he allegedly pushed an officer and then started to run away, with the policeman hanging on to his clothing. The officer was assisted in halting the man's flight by a Granite City Steel security guard.

While he was attempting to restrain Dawson, it was alleged the officer's eyeglasses were knocked off and stepped on.

Three .38-caliber shells allegedly were found in Dawson's possession. Dawson was charged with trespass to a vehicle, resisting arrest, criminal damage to property, battery and not having a firearm owner's identification card.

Dawson went before a judge at 4:30 p.m. Tuesday and pleaded innocent. Bond was set at $1,002 cash.

A mittimus was issued and he was transferred to the Madison County Jail, where he was held by deputies at 9:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Crismon told police he had just started his car to warm the engine to warm up prior to leaving his place of business.

A moment or two later, he said, he looked outside and saw the vehicle moving east on East 23rd.

Dusting off a new topic

No matter what I do, I cannot escape it. Great piles of the stuff lay on my furniture and floors. It clings to my drapes and ceilings. I speak of the scourge of the everyday housewife, DUST.

It just doesn't seem fair. I scrape and polish the dust away, only to have it reappear three minutes later. I am constantly battling the flying dirt and there is nothing I can do to stop it.

Why do cobwebs have to look like spider webs? I have asked myself this question over and over. I am afraid whenever I dust the ceilings. What would happen if I pulled a cobweb down and it turned out to be a spider's nest?

No matter what I do, I cannot escape it.

I'd die, that's what would happen. I am deathly afraid of spiders, with their nasty little legs and beady little eyes. The idea of running into one keeps me from cleaning the webs off of my ceilings for months at a time. My kids love to write across dusty things. I usually wait to polish their dresser until they have filled all of the space on top with their doodlings. I wouldn't want to stifle their creative efforts. Besides, they like to write in polish, too, and I can't handle that.

I scrape and polish, only to have it reappear three minutes later.

Did you ever open up your drapes and watch the dust fly through your house? I did, one time. Now I keep the curtains drawn all of the time. I just can't stand to see tomorrow's dirt floating through my living room today.

My two sources of comfort are also my worst enemies. The furnace or the air-conditioner blast dust all through the house, depending on the time of the year.

The only time the dust problem can be held down even a little bit is during the short weeks in the spring and fall when I use neither of the artificial weather machines. Then all I have to worry about is the dirt that floats in through open windows.

I keep hoping that dust will come into vogue.

I check my House Beautiful every month to keep tabs on the status of dust. Someday I will see full color pictures of lovely dust-laden furniture, all the rage. Dust writing will become an art form. Finally, all of my dreams will be realized and dust will be the thing to have in one's home.

Until that day arrives, I will have to keep fighting the flying microscopic rocks. Dusting and cleaning, cleaning and dusting. I wonder what it is like to live in a dirt-free room? Is there such a place?

I check my House Beautiful every month to keep tabs on the status of dust.

On the other hand, if it wasn't for dust, whatever would I do with Saturdays?

Pre-register at North for child care series

Pre-registration currently is taking place at Granite City High School North for Child Care classes for 3 and 4-year-old children who will have reached their third or fourth birthdays by April 30, 1979.

The preschool program is designed to give high school students experience in working with the children in preparation for jobs in the day care field, as well as being knowledgeable parents later in life. Through a variety of activities, the high school students will provide learning opportunities for the preschool child. Snacks also will be served.

Parents interested in their child attending the preschool classes are being asked to call Mrs. Mildred Chandler, North High secretary, at 931-0600, to pre-register the youngster.

There is a limited enrollment and classes will be filled on a first-come, first-served basis, the program directors, Sue Biggerstaff and Janet Biggerstaff, said this week.

Sessions will be held each Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, with the program for 3-year-olds beginning Tuesday, Feb. 27, and continuing for 10 weeks. The series of classes for 4-year-olds will start Tuesday, Feb. 27, and continue for 13 weeks.

Normal registration will be on Jan. 30 and Jan. 31 in Room 510 at North High School, between the hours of 8:30 a.m. and 12 noon.

Parents who have pre-registered a child at the present time, are required to come in person to formally register their youngster on Jan. 30 or Jan. 31.

For the program to work effectively, parents must agree to bring the child to all of the scheduled daily sessions each week, the program directors said.

Requirements for participation also include a current physical examination report and a $5 fee to cover the cost of snacks.

The fee and completed health form should be turned in at the time of formal registration.

One class will be operated daily for 3-year-olds from 8:30 a.m. to 10 a.m. Four-year-olds may attend one of two classes, scheduled from 8:30 a.m. to 12 noon, or a class from 1:30 p.m. to 3 p.m.

Further details of the program may be obtained by calling 931-0600 during school hours.

GRANITE CITY — An illness which has plagued high school athletics all around the United States may have touched down in Granite City. At Tuesday night's regular meeting of the Granite City District Nine School Board, District Administrative Assistant for Athletics and Physical Education Joe Fedora submitted a grim report to the board.

The report was on the financial state of athletics in Granite City, both high school and lower levels. According to Fedora, the athletic situation at all District schools is not good financially.

the district has been reduced by approximately 24 percent in the past five years while the costs have escalated greatly. The result has been several recommendations from Fedora to the District. In order to maintain the present athletic budget before reducing boys programs and still provide girls' athletics in the city's junior high schools, Fedora recommends the following steps for next school year:

- 1) Eliminate "all" athletic shoe purchases (district-wide).

- 2) Request Booster Clubs to provide volunteers as athletic helper (Except ticket managers, pass gate, football photographer, police) on senior high level.

- 3) Charge admission for soccer games.
- 4) Charge football players one-third the cost of insurance.

"Basically, we're looking for ways to provide funding for girls athletics without increasing the budget," said Fedora. "I feel we've been doing a good job in the District in cutting down and remaining solvent through the years, but things have reached such a state now that something will have to be done.

"This has happened to schools not only in Illinois, but throughout the country," said Fedora. "But I feel that our particular district may be just about one of the most financially solvent in the state."

Those previously mentioned steps would only be the first ones made if the financial situation at the

Trojans explode over Bethalto

of the Press-Record

DUPO — There was an explosion here last night. No, nobody phoned in a bomb threat to the Dupo gymnasium. The fireworks were on the basketball court in the 31st Annual Dupo Tournament.

It happened about midway through the fourth quarter and resulted in a 68-42 romp for Madison over Civic Memorial of Bethalto in the semifinals.

Madison will now face the winner of tonight's Dupo-Lovejoy game Friday night at 8 o'clock for the championship.

The explosion broke open a relatively close game. Madison had a 10-point lead most of the way, but Bethalto managed to stay within striking range... that is, until Madison hit stride. "I guess we just wore them down," said Madison Coach Larry Graham. "Our physical conditioning broke it open for us."

Other than the physical condition of his athletes, however, Graham was somewhat less than pleased with his team's effort... until that fourth quarter spurge.

"I thought we played well until we got to 19 points," said Graham. "Then we got complacent and started to let up. That let them (Bethalto) get close."

During that stretch, Madison had a 19-7 lead, only to see it evaporate to a 19-17 lead within a minute and a half. That occurred about a minute into the second quarter after Madison had led 17-10 at the end of the first quarter.

Surprisingly, Bethalto dominated the boards early in the game against Madison. But in the second half, the Trojans of Madison began to control the rebounding statistics.

"The rebounding killed us in the first half," said Graham. "Plus a few other things."

Those "other things" Graham referred to were calls by officials which went the way of Bethalto. "We let the officials dominate the game," said Graham. "I'm not saying we didn't commit a lot of those fouls, I'm just saying we fell into a trend of letting the officials dictate the flow of the game instead of us."

Madison took a 28-22 lead into the locker room at halftime. What did time tell his team? "I just said we

Cochran resigns

GRANITE CITY — The Granite City District Nine School Board, at its regular meeting Tuesday night, accepted the resignation of District High School Athletic Trainer Bill Cochran.

Cochran was employed as athletic trainer for both Granite City High School North and South. He cited health and other employment as reasons for his resignation. He had been employed with salary reimbursement by Dr. George Wilkins from fees charged for physical examinations given to athletes. District Administrative Assistant for Athletic and Physical Education Joe Fedora said he felt no attempt should be made to reassign a person into the position of athletic trainer until a full-time trainer can be employed by the school district, but does not

Fedora said he felt the athletic trainer program is extremely beneficial to the resident athletes and school district, but does not the needs of the two Granite City high schools when placed on a part-time basis.

those "other things" Graham referred to were calls by officials which went the way of Bethalto. "We let the officials dominate the game," said Graham. "I'm not saying we didn't commit a lot of those fouls, I'm just saying we fell into a trend of letting the officials dictate the flow of the game instead of us."

Madison took a 28-22 lead into the locker room at halftime. What did time tell his team? "I just said we were going to have to play with more intensity and not let a call get to us," said Graham. "I also said that we were going to have to start hitting the boards in order to beat Bethalto."

Hit them they did in the second half. The Trojans outscored Bethalto 20-12 in the third quarter and appeared to have found the key to an easy victory. But that old bug-a-boo came back to haunt them again... complacency.

Madison eased up a bit on the defense and fell back into the routine of allowing themselves only one shot at the basket. Presto-change-o, the Trojans' lead is cut to a mere 10 points with four minutes left to play, 50-40.

Fourth of July-time.

Madison went on a virtual rampage. The Trojans outscored Bethalto 18-8 down the stretch to walk away with the victory. "I think two things helped us," said

Graham, "our bench and our condition."

Graham filtered players in and out of the lineup in order to: 1) find the right combination, and 2) allow his players to get a breather from time to time.

A familiar sparkplug in the Madison lineup was all-state guard James Heard. He played last night in his third game since coming off a three-day suspension from school (during which he could not play on the team).

Did the layoff hurt Heard? "I think it hurt him psychologically," said Graham. "He's the type of kid who'd be sensitive to those sorts of things. I think he may have lost some of his confidence."

"But he's also the type of kid who'll eventually shake it off and push himself. If I asked for 100 percent, he'd give 110."

The victory sets up a potential re-match of last season's Dupo Regional championship game between Madison and Lovejoy. Brooklyn Lovejoy will face host Dupo in the second semifinal game tonight at 8.

What will the Trojans have to do in order to beat Lovejoy? "I'm not 100 percent sure it'll be Lovejoy," said Graham. "Dupo has a fine team. But if it is, we have got to control Eric Watson. Lovejoy is a very well-balanced team."

North short in shoot-out

By PETE HAYES
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record

BREESE — There was a shoot-out of sorts here Tuesday night. And it might just have made a Matt Dillon and Doc Holiday bluish with embarrassment.

The two gun-slingers were Breese Mater Dei's Kenny Loeper and Granite City North's Dennis Page. Between them, the two hot-shots scored 72 points. Page tallied 31, but Loeper hit for 41 enroute to leading his Mater Dei squad to a 77-49 last-quarter victory over North in high school basketball action.

Most of Page's points came from outside... about the 15 to 20 foot range, while Loeper made his points from inside. The 6'9" forward ran in and out and through and over North's defense to set a new Mater Dei single-game scoring record. The previous record was 37 points set by Lance Reilman in 1974.

"We didn't know he was that good," said North Coach Bill Ohlendorf. "Jim concentrated on (Jim) Michaels, their other big gun, since he'd been the one who had been doing most of the damage to other teams this season."

"We didn't do a good enough job of denying the ball inside to him."

But what North did do was come up with scoring punch of its own... but most of it came from Page. "Dennis played an excellent game," said Ohlendorf. "He not only was hitting well, but did a heck of a job on defense."

The result of the shoot-out was a very close game heading into the fourth quarter. Neither team was

Mater Dei 77, North 49

NORTH — Russ Chappell 14, Tom Greco 6, Dennis Page 31, Mike Robertson 8, Greg Luehmann 8, Mike York 2. FG 30, FT 9, PF 21, TP 6.

MATER DEI — Kevin Cavaletto 6, Kenny Loeper 41, Jim Michaels 10, Russ Bookman 11, Bill Haase 2, Kevin Pollman 7. FG 29, FT 19, PF 10, TP 7.

North — 16 19 12 22 - 49

Mater Dei — 17 18 16 27 - 77

able to hold more than a four point lead until Mater Dei zoomed ahead by nine with a scoring spurt with about a minute remaining, 70-61. "If we'd been able to control their inside game a little more, we might have been in better shape," said Ohlendorf. "I guess the ball didn't bounce right down the stretch."

Heading into that final period, Mater had a four point lead, 51-47. But within 30 seconds, the score was tied when Page hit from 20 feet out and Russ Chappell stole a Mater Dei pass and hit from the right baseline.

From that point, each team would spurt ahead by four, then fall behind by four. But then came the finale to the shoot-out between Page and Loeper.

Down the stretch, Mater Dei was still able to get the ball inside to its high-scoring forward, but Page had suddenly cooled off just a bit from the floor. But not much. He ended the night hitting 15 of 20 shots.

Loeper was consistently hot. He scored 10 points in the first quarter, 12 in the second, eight in the third and 11 in the fourth.

In the end, it was Mater Dei's ability to run its offense that spelled doom for North. "We just didn't cover their rotation very well," sighed Ohlendorf. "If we had, it might have been a different ball game."

According to Ohlendorf, the turning point of the game came midway in the fourth quarter when North had a four point lead and possession of the ball. Page fired up a shot from the key which didn't fall in. Mater Dei got the rebound and proceeded to out-score the Steelers 10-0 down the next minute-and-a-half.

"If that shot had dropped, it might have put us over the hump," said Ohlendorf.

With less than two minutes remaining in the game, Ohlendorf called timeout. What did he tell his team? "I said to get the ball to (Mike) Robertson," he said. "He had been hitting from the left side of the key all week in practice, so I told him to take that shot, since I knew they (Mater Dei) would be all over Page."

Only half of the plan panned out however. Mater Dei did swarm all over Page, but Robertson could not find the range on his jump shot. He missed three straight from the same spot on the floor.

"I told him to take those shots, and I'd tell him again right now if we were in the same situation," said Ohlendorf. "I've got a lot of confidence in him."

One thing Ohlendorf was extremely pleased with was the overall effort put forth by his team. "This is got to be one of the best efforts we've had this season," he said. "I don't think there was a single moment in this game we didn't give 100 percent."

The loss dropped North to 2-8 on the season.

NOT QUITE ENOUGH. North's Russ Chappell (40) goes up to block a shot against Breese Mater Dei Tuesday.

THE GAME North and South to meet Friday

By PETE HAYES
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — Just ask any basketball fan in Granite City if the basketball game Friday means anything. You'll get an earful. So who's playing?

North and South.

Ah yes, THE game. Most contests for both teams are played before half-empty gyms at home. But not this Friday. No way. The North-South game fills the place.

"The place" is Memorial Gym on the campus of South.

DETERDING

North's Bill Ohlendorf knew they'll have no problem getting their teams ready. "The kids know what they have to do," said Ohlendorf. "This is probably the biggest game of the year for them."

Deterding agrees. "This weekend, we've got our two biggest rivals on the schedule... North and Collinsville," he said. "Of course, I guess Collinsville is everybody's biggest rival, but we've got a tough game Friday night to think about."

South travels to Collinsville Saturday night.

OHLENDORF

It used to be South Gym... until the split in 1974 which created GCHS North.

"I remember the first North-South game," said North athletic director Bryan Wilkinson. "It was the head coach at South. We didn't win a game that year... except the North one."

"We'd been playing before very small crowds and I was new to Granite City, so I expected another meager turnout for the North game," he remembered. "But when I got to the gym, there were already people waiting in line for tickets. They had 'em standing anywhere there was room. I think they even had to turn some people away."

This year's North-South game should be no exception to the short history of hard-fought contests between the two schools. Both coaches, South's Don Deterding and

North's Bill Ohlendorf knew they'll have no problem getting their teams ready. "The kids know what they have to do," said Ohlendorf. "This is probably the biggest game of the year for them."

Deterding agrees. "This weekend, we've got our two biggest rivals on the schedule... North and Collinsville," he said. "Of course, I guess Collinsville is everybody's biggest rival, but we've got a tough game Friday night to think about."

South travels to Collinsville Saturday night.

South's Warriors are riding the crest of a six-game winning streak that stretched back to the winning of the Wood River Tournament over the Christmas holidays. South's overall record is 10-3. North, meanwhile, got off to a rocky start this season, dropping its first seven games. But the Steelers have come on strong of late and seem to have found a formula to winning... Dennis Page.

The hot-shot Steeler guard pumped in 31 points Tuesday night in North's last-quarter loss to Breese Mater Dei. North's players know what they'll have to do to say Ohlendorf. "South has a very fine defense," he said. "It's probably one of the tops in the area. We know we'll have to move the ball well against them to be able to have any success."

Stearns looking for more in 1979

By KEVIN ALLEN
of the Press-Record

MADISON — Coach Carol Stearns of the girls basketball team at Madison High School is faced with a dilemma.

She is faced with the task of building a basketball program almost from scratch. In order to do this she must attempt to draw crowds and support in general from the community.

At the same time she has a pool of developed talent from the junior highs. In order to build her team she needs the talent. In order to start the programs in the junior highs she needs to build interest in the girls sport.

"I really feel our biggest problem is the lack of a feeder program in the junior highs," said Stearns. "The boys grow up with basketball. The girls see the boys playing and they imitate them. But all they have is street basketball."

Despite her problem Stearns feels she is making headway. "Last year I was a teacher first and a coach second. But this year, after school, I can coach a little."

The improvement is likely because of the fact that the entire starting five are returning from last season. The list includes two seniors, Darlene Reed, and Deb Baker, and three juniors, Veronica Williams, Kim Williams and Juliet Stanley.

Already Madison has improved on last year's 1-8 record. They now stand at 3-2.

Having not had the grooming in the fundamentals because they learned on the street, it might be expected for the girls to play an overaggressive game. That's not the problem, according to Stearns. "It used to be," she said, "But I stayed after them so much that they got too timid. Now when they foul, it's very obvious."

The team, according to Stearns, has the capability of being balanced. She said that her team is probably equally good inside as outside and that she has good ballhandlers as well as good shooters. "When they all click, we're balanced," she said.

One of the problems in building a basketball program, according to Stearns, is trying to find opponents of equal ability. "We try to stay away from the big schools," she said. "I could play Lincoln and East St. Louis all I want, they I love to play us, but I know if I do they'll just annihilate us."

Even with the problems that accompany girls basketball, Stearns is hopeful that it is headed in the right direction. "I'd like to see it go, obviously," she said, "I just don't want it to get to the point that my job depends on if I have a winning season."

Right now, the coach's concerns are more immediate. She is currently trying to get equipment and the supplies necessary for the day to day functions of a basketball team. "When we start bringing in crowds that will happen. We're trying to push it at the junior high level, but right now there's just not enough help."

Madison holds off North charge

GRANITE CITY — Take a team with a 17 point lead in the third quarter, add a fired-up home team and a little bit of "hot-dogging" and what've you got? A close basketball game. VERY close.

That's exactly what happened here Monday night when Madison's girl basketball team downed Granite City North 42-41. It raised Madison's record to 3-2, while North is 0-1.

But to paraphrase an old saying, "The game wasn't as close as the score indicates." At least not until the fourth quarter.

Madison jumped out to an early lead and looked as if it would blow the Steeleries right out of the friendly confines of the home gym. The Trojanettes led a commanding 27-12 lead at halftime.

But in the second half, it appeared as if North had a different squad out on the court compared to the first half. The Steeleries began showing more composure and waited patiently for a good shot, rather than haphazardly throwing the ball at the basket.

"I think a lot of our problems in the first half were due to first-gam jitteries," said North Coach Leslee McIntyre. "The girls started using their heads a little more and it paid off."

North started to edge closer to Madison with 13 left in the second quarter when it closed to within 31-18.

"We started to take advantage of some turnovers and managed to keep them from scoring," said Obermueller. "I just wish we could've started the game in the second half and left out

The first.

But going into the fourth quarter, Madison still held on to a 41-24 lead. Things looked hopeless for North.

That's when the "hot-dogging" was added to the recipe. Madison's team members started to act as if the game was already over. They took 25-foot shots. They missed them. They took more. They missed more.

"Our players were really hot-dogging it up," said Madison Coach Carol Stearns. "They started to do things like they thought they were really hot stuff."

The Trojanettes hot-dogged their way to one (count it, one) point in the final stanza. Meanwhile, North had its hottest period with a 17-point outburst.

North's big sparkplug in the fourth quarter were Shari Ripka, Leslie McIntyre and Clara Bates. It would go something like this: Ripka would snare a rebound of a missed Madison shot. She would pass off to McIntyre who'd drive the length of the floor, pull up and hit a 15-foot jump shot.

OR, Ripka would rebound and spot Bates racing down the floor ahead of the defenders. Ripka would pass the ball to Bates who would score an uncontested layup.

"Bates is like a water-bug," said Obermueller. "She surprises people with her speed. She's not very big, but she is fast and in good shape."

Stearns, on the other hand, said she thought her squad was worn out by the time the fourth quarter rolled around. "Some of our girls aren't in real good physical condition," she said. "I think they were tired in the fourth quarter."

It took North most of the final period to get even with Madison. The Steeleries did it when Bates scored one of her layups after a steal by Ripka at midcourt of an errant Madison pass.

Then Madison scored its lone point in the final minute. Juliet Stanley of Madison was fouled by McIntyre with nine seconds left in the game. She made the first of a one-and-one situation to give Madison the victory.

With less than a minute to play however, and North trailing by three points, Steeleries coach Obermueller elected not to go for the intentional foul, instead trying (or at least hoping) for a turnover or foul that would swing the game in North's favor. It almost worked.

Was Stearns surprised that North didn't foul late? "Yes, I was," the Madison coach said. "I thought for sure they'd come out and foul us. In a way, I was hoping that they would. We've been pretty good at the free throw line."

North's last-gasp chance at a one-point victory vanished when the in-bounds pass with four seconds left went awry and was intercepted by Madison.

Disease

District level doesn't brighten. Additional more drastic steps might have to be taken, according to Fedora.

About the first step, Fedora said, "What we're doing is just taking from one hand and putting it into another."

"Some of the steps aren't really too drastic," he added. "Many schools don't buy any shoes for their athletes at all. Some districts make their football players pay all of the insurance expenses."

Other proposed steps might be to eliminate all junior high school intramural athletic programs and intensify the junior high intramural programs, eliminate the high school intramural programs, cut back the levels and programs offered at the senior highs; eliminate elementary after-school programs.

"Let me emphasize that these are only recommendations," said Fedora. "Nothing has been decided yet and the board may have some different ideas of its own."

The decisions will probably be made at a meeting which will be held to discuss the problem. "We haven't set a date or time for it yet," said Fedora. "But it probably will be in the next two weeks."

"We can't provide everything to the players," said Fedora. "What we're doing is trying to eliminate all the frills and still keep on hitting rock-bottom."

If, in fact, the previously mentioned steps, the situation doesn't change, more drastic steps might have to be considered, according to Fedora.

The situation in Granite City is typical of the plight which has struck several high schools throughout the country. For instance, in Collinsville two years ago, several local merchants and boosters managed to raise enough money to keep the athletic programs in the Collinsville schools. If they hadn't, there would be no interscholastic sports in Collinsville.

Fedora concluded in his report Tuesday night that he does not believe District athletics can operate on less than the present budget. He feels that it can exist on the current budget only if the first steps mentioned are put into effect next school year. "If we don't do this," he stated, "the District must improve its junior high girls next year athletic programs or be in violation of Title IX legislation (which makes it mandatory for girls athletics to be equal at all levels to boys)."

Fedora said that there are no "frills" in the present athletic budget . . . those that have eliminated some five years ago. He feels that, in fact, the District may have under-budgeted athletics for the current school year.

Monday's Dupo game . . . Stanley, Trojans 'punch out' Gibault 90-58 in opener

By KEVIN ALLEN
of the Press-Record

DUPO — You'd think Madison's basketball coach, Larry Graham, would be happy. His team had just beaten Gibault-Waterloo 90-58, local polls had listed Madison the number-one class A team, and statewide, Madison was being touted fourth-best. You'd be surprised.

Graham was saying, "We're just not very pleased with ourselves tonight. We're capable of playing much better defense. We're capable of holding this team in the forties."

But that's just about what Graham says after almost every one of his basketball games, regardless of the score. Maybe the Madison players ought to be thankful they win so often. You have to wonder how Graham would react to consistent losing.

The method obviously works, too. Graham's Trojans are now 10-3, with the victory over Gibault in the opening round of the Dupo Invitational Tournament, Monday.

The win moved Madison into Wednesday's semifinal game against Civic Memorial of Bethalto (See related article Page 21). Civic Memorial downed St. Henry Prep of Belleville in its first round game Monday.

Other winners in the first round (Tuesday) were Dupo (98-50 over Columbia) and Lovejoy-Brooklyn (49-48 over Country Day).

The Trojans have followed the same pattern of their games this season. They usually start slowly, then somewhere around the middle of the third quarter, after their constant pressing has worn down the other team, they start pouring in the points. If all goes right, Madison's reserves are in the game by the middle of the fourth quarter to mop up what's left after the victory has been assured.

Monday was no exception. The Trojans had some trouble getting started, but by the time the wrinkles were straightened out, they were as smooth as ever.

Early in the game, Madison's ball handling and passing were excellent. The resulting turnovers allowed Gibault to come out of the first quarter behind by only a small deficit, 8-13.

Gibault continued to stay close in the second period, as the Trojans had trouble with their outside shooting.

Gibault had some trouble of its own, though, and the halftime score was 34-25 in Madison's favor.

Then, at the third quarter, Madison put the game out of reach. The impetus for the sudden surge came near the end of the quarter. Madison's Kenny Stanley, after coming down with a rebound next to Gibault's Steve Sexauer, suddenly threw a punch at Sexauer. Gibault's big center. It was difficult to see if the blow landed. But if it did, it just glanced Sexauer's forehead.

"My players were complaining about him at halftime," Graham said, referring to Sexauer. "They said he was throwing elbows all night. I didn't see it, though, and usually I pick those things up."

Both players were thrown out of the game, and each was called for a technical foul. An additional technical was assessed to Sexauer for unsportsmanlike conduct.

The incident must have sparked Madison. The Trojans went on to score eight unanswered points in the final 44 seconds of the third quarter, and to add four more in the beginning of the fourth period before Gibault could score.

Graham, too, thought the incident changed his team. "We got motivated and our adrenalin started flowing," he said. "We've got to play hard to play well. We're as good as anyone physically."

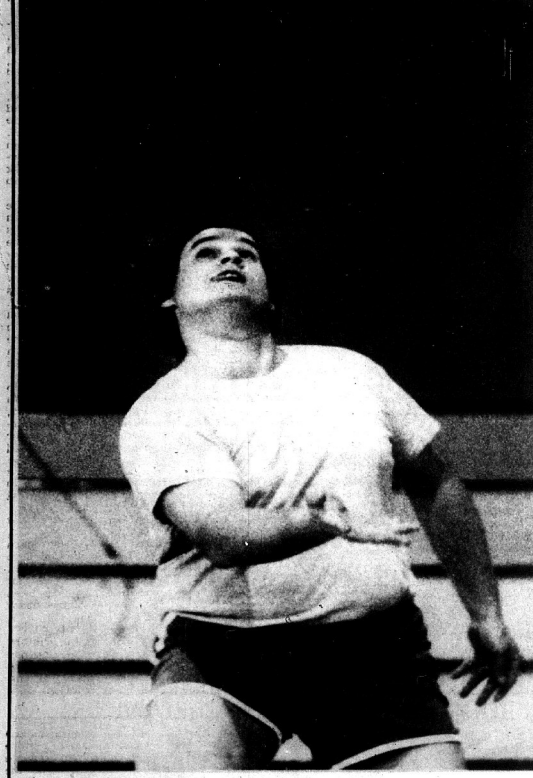

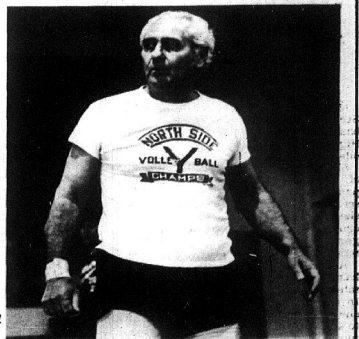

By the time the final period was half over, Madison had built almost a 40-point lead. The Trojans' reserves finished the game,

GRANITE CITY — If you wander into the Tri-Cities YMCA gym on any Monday, Wednesday or Friday afternoon, you will run into a bunch of fellows playing volleyball. They will tell you that they are taking their afternoon rest and relaxation time, but what you will see will put you in mind of a playoff game. This group of guys do not mess around when it comes to volleyball. They play hard. If you dare to enter the gym, take care to protect yourself against a 100 mile-an-hour spike. Many of the players are Quad-Cities business and professional men. Some have been attending the tri-weekly sessions for years. Most are also Tri-City YMCA members who make it a point never to miss the games. Dr. E. W. Walton, affectionately known as "Doc," has been a regular on the volleyball court at the "Y" for some 30 years. "We get together like this to have fun and keep in shape," he said. "There's nothing like a little exercise to keep you feeling young." The brand of volleyball they play can be called a lot more than a little exercise. Ed Mercer, physical director at the "Y," who joined the group about two years ago, thought he was getting in on

ROUT South girls win first game 62-10

By DOUG IRVIN of the Press-Record
GRANITE CITY — The Warriorette cagers of Granite City South beat Dupo here last night after losing their season opener to the Mascoutah Indians on Monday night. Powerhouse Mascoutah downed the Warriorettes 66-40 after beating top-notch East St. Louis Lincoln 42-38. South only allowed the Tigers of Dupo to score five buckets in last night's lopsided game, 62-10.

SOUTH 62, DUPO 10
Chris Boyd, center for South, set an untouchable pace throughout the game totaling out with 21 points on the defensive side of the game — Laura Gabriel took that cake.

"Our main objective of tonight's game was to get the ball inside to Boyd," said South's assistant coach, Jim DeMoulin. "Once she has the ball inside, she has enough moves to put the ball in the hoop."

Dupo had three field goals in the first quarter and then one each in the third and fourth quarters giving them ten points from three players. The superior defense in this game was largely due to Gabriel. "Gabe had an excellent defensive game," commented South head coach Pat Yates. "She knew when and how to get in a good position — she really helped with all those rebounds."

The Warriorettes shut out the Tigers in the second quarter as they tripled their own score. At halftime the score was a lopsided 34-6.

"We tried a 1-3-1 zone and that's where they started scoring — we quickly changed into our press and held them," explained Coach DeMoulin. South dominated the entire second half with several fast break plays resulting in baskets by Boyd. South got away with about four breaks in a row.

Outscoring the Tigers 29-4 in the second half South was able to rotate its bench to gain experience and to give everyone an opportunity to play. The Warriors put in 27 from the field with Boyd taking credit for eight baskets. Nita Graham had five.

MASCOUTAH 66, SOUTH 40
"Mascoutah is one of the toughest teams on our schedule if not the best. Lincoln is also on our schedule," said Coach DeMoulin. "We have five different types of defense and none of them worked against Mascoutah."

Boyd and Gabriel led the show for the Warriors as Boyd scored 18 points to set the pace for the Warriors, however, Bonnie Norrenberns scored 23 for the Indians.

"We tried to keep the ball away from Plab," said Coach Yates. "But when she wasn't hurting us, someone else was."

"Boyd and Gabriel had a good game — Boyd shot 12 of 15 from the line," said the South coach.

Once Mascoutah got its machine in gear, it never downshifted as they went on to embarrass the host team 66-40.

The cagers of South now stand at an even record of 1-1 and will try to make that a winning record against the Tigers of Edwardsville on Tuesday night at 6:30 p.m. in Edwardsville.

North band program tonight

The combined talents of the Granite City High School North Music Department will present a score of performances today, beginning at 8 p.m., in the Memorial Gymnasium on the South campus.

The program, known as "Music and Motion," will include presentations by the North Band featuring the Steel City Belles, national award-winning Pom Pon Squad, and the award-winning National Guard Flag and Rifles.

The 150 students of the North Band department are combining their musical efforts to help raise the needed funds to purchase summer supplements to their existing year-round band uniforms.

"These are not new uniforms, since the old ones are still good, but a change of upper-uniform dress from heavy jackets and overlays to lightweight blouse-styled uniforms and brimmed 'Aussie-Styled' hats, to use weather warm and hot during performances outdoors," North Band Director Robert D. Todoroff, said.

Included on the program for the Steel City Belles portion are: "Sweet, Sweet Smiles," "Still The One," "Yes Indeed," "Swinging on a Star," "Opus One," "Down By the Lazy River," "It's A Miracle," "Best of My Love," "Moon River," "Copacabana," and "Disco Inferno."

The North Guard will present: "Theme from the TV serial, Chips," "Theme from the Muppet Show," "Proud Mary," "Feels So Good," "Parade of the Wooden Soldiers," and theme from the new TV serial, "Battle Star Galactica."

Besides backing up the entire motion show, the North Band will be featured in a special arrangement of Jimmy Webb's "MacArthur Park."

Admission is $2 for adults and $1 for students to the hour-long presentation. Tickets will be available at the door.

Arrest youth in burglary

A burglary information charge was issued Monday against a 19-year-old Granite City youth found hiding inside the American Legion, 1025 State St., at 5:45 a.m. Sunday.

He is Clarence L. Kelley, 2025 Dewey Ave. A mittimus was given for transfer to the Madison County jail on Tuesday.

Responding to a burglary alarm, police found a front window about 30 inches square had been broken. Officers surrounded the building and four policemen entered to find signs a burglary had been under way.

Sliding doors in the hallway were broken open and a trip-wire for the burglar alarm was severed. A set of keys was found on the floor next to a pinball machine and it was discovered the coin box on the juke box had been pried open.

A door handle was removed from a freezer in the kitchen and drawers in the bar had been opened. A pillow case containing $231 in cash and change was found in the bar.

Police searched the building and alleged finding the 19-year-old hiding behind the furnace in the small room southeast of the bar. He was handcuffed and taken to the Granite City Jail where he was detained pending the filing of charges.

Erosion hearing

The Illinois Department of Agriculture is nearing completion on the state's Soil Erosion and Sediment Control program and has scheduled hearings for public input, including 10 a.m. Jan. 25 at the Cooperative Extension Service in Jacksonville.

Joseph Berta III, chief, Illinois Bureau of Soil and Water Conservation, and "The need for such a program stems from growing concern about the detrimental effects soil erosion is having on soil productivity and water quality."

"The Illinois General Assembly responded to that concern by amending the Illinois Soil and Water Conservation Districts law to include provisions for standards to be set, attempting to control excessive soil loss throughout Illinois."

"The recent amendment requires the Illinois Department of Agriculture and all soil and water conservation districts to hold public hearings before any guideline or standard can be adopted."

"Upon adoption of the state's program by the department, local districts will be charged with the responsibility of setting standards consistent with the state's guidelines."

Big Social Security tax increase for many

Beginning this month, the Social Security (FICA) tax has been increased.

For many people, the raise will not have much effect on their paychecks. For others, the increase in the total tax paid for the year will be substantial.

The impact will be greatest for the higher income worker.

The reason for this is that the tax rate for the employee increases only from 6.05 percent to 6.13 percent but the annual wages taxed increase from $17,700 to $22,900 in 1979.

This means that the person earning $17,700 will pay only slightly more than $4 in additional Social Security tax in 1979.

A person earning $22,900 or over, however, will pay $32 more in Social Security taxes than someone with the same earnings in 1978.

The tax rate for the self-employed remains at 8.1 percent for 1979 but the total taxable earnings also increase to $22,900 for the year. Therefore, persons with net earnings from self-employment of $17,700 in 1979 will pay the same tax that they did for 1978.

The self-employed person earning the maximum taxable amount of $22,900 will pay $221 more in Social Security taxes in 1979.

The increased tax rate and tax base are part of a series of changes in financing passed by Congress in 1977 to stabilize the financial situation of the Social Security program.

MAN FROM TEXAS
John R. Waters Jr., 24, of Temple, Tex., was fined $115 last week after pleading guilty to a theft case which occurred in 1977. His address was erroneously listed as in Granite City.

MAINTENANCE IS HARD WORK!

RON LANDMAN
Director

The Maintenance Department of Community Unit School District No. 9 consists of eighteen (18) personnel representing Carpenters, Painters, Laborers, Chauffeurs, Warehousemen, and General Maintenance. These people are responsible for the maintenance upkeep of the twenty-two (22) schools and the central office, covering 1,309,584 sq. ft. which includes approximately 27 acres of roofs on 253 acres of ground.

Their duties include the proper operating of the heating plants, snow removal, grass cutting, delivery of supplies, glass replacement, repairs to locks and doors, replacement of concrete, upkeep of athletic fields, cleaning sewers, and many more everyday emergencies and duties that arise.

All major repairs are advertised for bid each year or when necessary, for the contractors to submit sealed bids. This includes major remodeling, roofing, asphalt, tuckpointing, plumbing and electrical work.

When the need arises we contact the local unions for extra help to supplement the maintenance department.

Warehouse:
The duties of the warehousemen is to receive and store supplies. These supplies (office, educational, athletic, art, custodial and cafeteria) are purchased in large needed quantities by sealed competitive bidding saving the school district money. The district has a 567 sq. ft. freezer and a 322 sq. ft. cooler where the perishable items are stored. At the district warehouse there is a railroad siding where box cars are unloaded. The warehouse men are responsible for the filling of supplies to be delivered to the schools as needed.

Chauffeurs:
The chauffeurs are responsible for the delivery of supplies which are taken by the chauffeurs and laborer to each school as needed. Their work includes the cutting of grass (which requires hiring an extra man during the cutting season), the upkeep of athletic fields, snow removal, patching drives and many related items — working in conjunction with the laborers.

Laborers:
The laborers are used for numerous items of repair: bleachers, sidewalk replacement, athletic fields, painting grass, cleaning sewers, minor repair to furnaces, working the supply truck, and helping the other maintenance men when needed.

Painters:
The painters are used to paint the inside and outside of the schools. Each school is on a 7 year rotating basis. They also paint the safety lanes, no parking lines, and numerous signs that are used at all schools. Painters are also used to remove paint and other items of vandalism when sprayed on the buildings.

Carpenters:
The carpenters are used to make minor repairs to roofs, build bookcases, work on bleachers, doors, locks, glass replacement, and minor renovations and remodeling.

General Maintenance:
The primary function of the general maintenance men, each of whom is a stationary engineer, is the proper operation of heating plants. Also, their responsibility extends to all general repair of electrical, mechanical, and plumbing equipment. These men are responsible for working weekends and evenings to assure that the buildings are suitable for the students at all times.

The above description of the maintenance department is a very brief review of the many jobs and projects that are required and undertaken in keeping the buildings repaired and for the safety and comfort of the students.

In the districts 22 buildings there are 92 custodians and 7 matrons. Their jobs consist of cleaning and care of their respective building which includes daily cleaning of every classroom, restroom, cafeteria, and the complete building. During the summer months these people make a thorough cleaning of the entire building: washing walls and windows, stripping wax, cleaning desks, blinds, light fixtures, sealing gym floors, etc., the many jobs that cannot be accomplished during the year. And like the maintenance department they are also responsible for the safety and comfort of the students who attend their buildings.

A few facts and figures on the operation of School District No. 9. There are 22 schools throughout the district and the central office and warehouse located at 20th and Adams Street. The utility bill for last year for gas and electric was $407,266.77, fuel oil $217,546.57, coal $2,295, and water $36,781.86. Also required during the year were 1200 cases of paper towels, 200 cases of toilet tissue, 2500 gallons of oil, 500 gallons of liquid detergent, and 1000 gallons of germicide cleaner. All this and much more are required to keep these buildings operating.

WE'RE ON THE MOVE

In discussing public school transportation and its cost, it is important to note that STATE AND FEDERAL LAW MANDATES THAT PUPILS OVER 1 1/2 MILES AWAY FROM PUBLIC TRANSPORTATION MUST BE TRANSPORTED TO SCHOOL. Also all special education pupils must be transported to school. To receive state and federal funding for all programs in the school system, we in the Granite City district, like those everywhere, must provide this costly, but necessary, service.

Frank L. Kraus, assistant superintendent and coordinator of the transportation program, has provided you, the taxpayer, with a "breakdown" on how transportation funds are spent:

Total number of pupils transported	4,735

WE'RE COOKING

Have you ever had to serve 10,000 hamburgers or 400 gallons of canned vegetables in a week? Have you ever had to feed nearly 7,000 people each day? How about heading a staff of 200 workers spread out at 21 different locations?

These are just some of the responsibilities of the director of food services for Granite City School District 9, O. L. "Obie" Overhulser.

Obie, as he is known throughout the school district and community, is the number one person when it comes to feeding the children at the 21 cafeterias within the district.

Being in charge of the food services department, with an annual budget of more than $1,300,000, has been a great challenge to Overhulser since being hired by the Board of Education.

He believes that serving food that the children do not like results only in the food going into the garbage. The children who do not like the particular food served on any given day then have nothing else to eat.

So he tries to order and serve the types of menus that will please the majority of the children most of the time. Of course there are many commodities that the school district receives from the government that have to be used, which he cannot control. But he tries to spread these out over a long period.

There are 102 employees that Overhulser is directly responsible. These do not include his two secretaries. Also, there are 49 substitutes who have to be contacted systematically when a regular worker is unable to be at work or extra help is needed in a particular cafeteria because of an unusually high plate count.

SEEING (AND HEARING) IS BELIEVING!

The Audio visual department administers all audio-visual budgets, operates and maintains a district wide audiovisual center. Provides consultant services to teachers and department heads, administrators, civic persons and organizations outside the school district.

The A.V. Center has available a wide selection of audiovisual, instructional materials and extensive audiovisual equipment. The center provides personal services to aid those individuals responsible for the instructional process in the school district. The Center now controls some 550 instructional films which are used by teachers in the classrooms. These films and other visual materials are used as a supplement to general classroom instruction in the twenty-two schools of the community. The center must conduct a continuous inventory of all A.V. equipment and keep all equipment in operative condition and available for immediate delivery to the schools on an inventory check-out bases. Additional and special equipment must be kept on hand for unique situations.

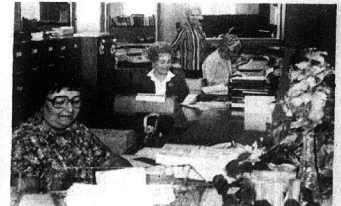

The school district has been fortunate, in that most of the films and instructional materials as well as A.V. equipment, has been FINANCED BY STATE AND FEDERAL FUNDS with a minimal cost to the citizens of the school district.

The Center is limited to various budget allocations. The Director is responsible for administering these budgets. All rental instructional film requests are furnished through the A.V. Center for screening and processing.

The Center is responsible for reproducing printed instructional materials as requested by teachers and producing Thermo Ditto or Thermo Stencils. The Center Service also has a laminating machine for services in that area. Also, the Center is equipped for audio duplication.

Teachers may request through the A.V. Center:

- 16 MM films
- A.V. supplies
- A.V. instructional materials
- A.V. equipment
- And all above mentioned services of the A.V. Center

ACCOUNTING... FOR IT ALL

The accounting department at the school board office carries out various important functions for the school district. Under the direction of Tully Huebner, the accounting department is responsible for accounts payable and receivable, purchases, supply distribution, investments, retirement benefits, any financial projects, study and setting of a budget (1978-79 budget totals $2,351,684), vouchers payable (approximately $150,000), and a monthly district payroll ($1,350,000).

Space does not allow us to go into detail on each position in the accounting department. However, the accounting department, and the efficiency with which it operates, is a major reason why our school district is one of the most widely respected in the state of Illinois.

A. They are not related.

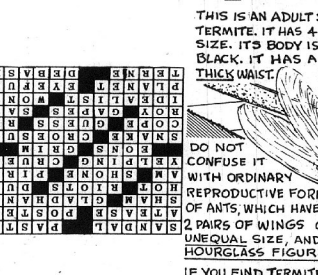

Q. Did CBS cancel "WKRP in Cincinnati"? It hasn't been on recently and I know the show was doing poorly in the ratings. — P.L., St. Thomas, Mo.

A. Although performing poorly in the all-important ratings, "WKRP in Cincinnati" is still alive at CBS. The half-hour comedy series has resumed production and will air at least through the rest of the current season. To give it a better shot at success, CBS moved the program from its 8 p.m. Monday slot to 9:30 p.m. Monday. With the always successful "M.A.S.H." as the lead-in at 9 p.m., "WKRP" should improve in the ratings.

Meeting on health cost containment to stress fitness

The General Assembly of the Greater St. Louis Health Systems Agency (HSA) will meet to discuss "Certificate of Need" on Saturday, Jan. 20, at 10 a.m. at the Learning Resources Center of St. Louis University Medical School, 354 Caroline. The meeting is open to the public and is free.

The HSA is the official health planning and resource development agency for the nine-county St. Louis metropolitan region. Membership in the HSA General Assembly is open on application to any resident of the region over 18 years of age.

Certificate of Need is a program to contain health costs by requiring health providers planning major facility and/or service changes usually over $150,000 — to obtain a certificate from the state that the changes are needed.

Illinois has had a Certificate of Need since 1974. Missouri does not have one and is the only state in the nation without any program of health cost regulation.

Any state that has not enacted a Certificate of Need law by 1980 could stand to lose all funds coming to that state under the Public Health Service Act.

The purposes of the meeting are to:

- Provide historical information on Certificate of Need from a national and state perspective.
- Inform the HSA General Assembly about the agency's position on Certificate of Need legislation.
- Present a status report on the progress Certificate of Need bills are making in the current session of the Missouri legislature.

Philip Gustafson will present a history and analysis of Certificate of Need legislation enacted around the country since 1965. Dr. Robert D. Finney, HSA executive director, will discuss efforts to obtain Certificate of Need legislation over the past three years.

The auto of Lyle Porter, 2609 E. 24th St., stolen from his home during the weekend, was recovered by Illinois State Police early this week, abandoned on Bend Road.

ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH

'You just can't hardly get there from here'

Getting from Illinois to southbound Interstate 55 or westbound I-44 in St. Louis is a problem these days. The one direct connection, a ramp off the Poplar Street Bridge, has been closed so that the road can be widened.

Before things can get better, they have to get worse: I-55 and I-44 motorists are being diverted onto city streets — and are finding themselves mixed in with downtown area rush hour traffic.

The temporary Interstate ramp closing puts the other downtown bridges on an almost equal footing with the Poplar Street Bridge. Commuters may find that they can bypass the bottleneck and save time by using one of the underutilized bridges.

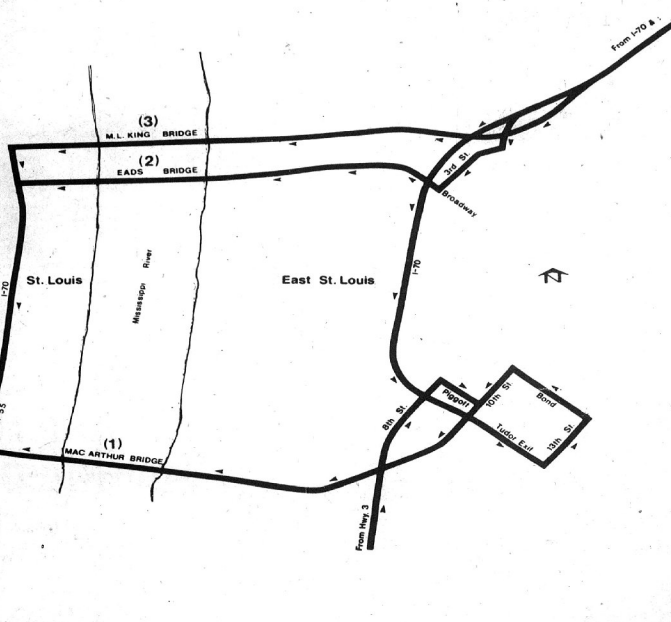

East-West Gateway Coordinating Council planners have tried alternate routes using each of the three older bridges. Illinois approaches to the bridges are shown on the diagram. On the Missouri side, the routes back to the highways are as follows:

(1) MacArthur Bridge (free): Turn left on 7th Street, travel south to Park Avenue. Turn right, continuing west to 12th Street. Turn left on 12th, then right on Lafayette Avenue. Head west on Lafayette, and follow the signs marking the separate left turn lanes for 55 South or 44 West. This is the only alternate that completely bypasses the construction.

(2) Eads Bridge (toll): Go under I-70, turn left onto Memorial Drive (3rd Street) and travel south until Memorial merges with southbound and westbound Interstate traffic. Be careful not to go back to Illinois.

(3) Martin Luther King Bridge (toll): Go under I-70, and then turn left onto the entrance ramp that connects directly with the highway. Follow the signs to 55 South or 44 West.

Early returns refunded early

Taxpayers who file their federal income tax returns early in the tax filing season will get their refunds sooner than those who file closer to the April 15 deadline, the Internal Revenue Service reminded Quad-Cityans this week.

Due to the lower volume of returns processed in January and February, taxpayers who file during those months may expect to receive their refunds in four to five weeks, according to the IRS.

Those who do not file until April may wait as long as eight weeks for their refunds.

The IRS also cautioned taxpayers to double-check their returns, especially the computations, before filing; errors can delay any refund due.

Taxpayers can also save time this year by checking their tax instructions, which are keyed to lines on the form for easier reference. The instructions often can lead a taxpayer to some overlooked deductions, the Revenue Service noted.

Taxpayers who are having trouble getting a problem resolved through normal channels can get additional help from the IRS' Problem Resolution or PRP Office.

PRP is designed to give personal, specialized attention to problems or complaints not properly handled by other parts of the IRS.

The IRS presented the following example of PRP problem: A taxpayer files an income tax return expecting a refund. The refund is received but for a lesser amount than expected, with an explanation that an error was made on the return. After corresponding with the IRS, the problem was not clarified. At this point, the taxpayer should contact the PRP office, a spokesman said.

The IRS stressed that PRP is not a substitute for normal taxpayer assistance and it cannot overturn the decisions made during an audit. Neither can it handle Freedom of Information requests, Privacy Act inquiries or complaints about IRS hiring practices. A call to IRS will refer the taxpayer to the proper office for these matters.

PRP can also prevent problems by bringing persistent complaints to the attention of IRS management. By making procedural changes where needed, it can result in fewer problems for taxpayers in the future, the IRS said.

Taxpayers can contact the PRP office, after they have tried normal IRS channels, by calling a toll-free number, 800-252-2921, and asking for the problem resolution officer.

300 attend scout 'derby'

More than 300 area Boy Scouts and their leaders gathered at the Tower Lake Recreation area on the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville campus during the weekend for the Cahokia Mound Council annual Klondike Derby.

The Scouts built Klondike style sleds and pulled them from station to station where they were judged on winter survival skills.

Winners in the various testing areas were: Fire building, Fox patrol, Troop 43, sponsored by the Evangelical and Reformed Church of Highland; ice rescue, Flaming Arrow patrol of Troop 146, Hope Lutheran Church; first aid, Senior Patrol, Troop 102, Suburban Baptist church.

A tug-of-war was won by the Panther Patrol of Troop 102.

Cub Pack 22 first for recruitment

Frohardt PTA sponsored Cub-Scout Pack 22 has received first place in the area for the largest recruitment of additional Scout members from Sept. 1 to Dec. 31, 1978.

The pack has made special efforts to bring the benefits of being a good Cub Scout before fellow classmates and is encouraging other boys to join in the benefits of Scouting, a leader said.

Scott now fighting 'private club' messenger services

Attorney General William J. Scott has told the Cook County Circuit Court that off-track messenger horse race betting services operating in the guise of private social clubs are only attempting to evade the Illinois Horse Racing Act which makes such messenger services illegal.

In a petition to intervene in a civil suit involving a private club which is accepting off-track bets, Scott has asked the court to declare the private club approach in violation of the Horse Racing Act and in violation of the Illinois Criminal Code sections forbidding gambling.

In addition, Scott has asked the court to issue an injunction preventing officers and employees of the club from engaging in the activity and to prevent the club from being used for illegal purposes.

The club, Chicagoans Unlimited, filed suit against the Chicago police superintendent, asking the court to prohibit the superintendent from enforcing the anti-messenger services law. That action was filed shortly after the Illinois Supreme Court upheld the Horse Racing Act's provisions making messenger services illegal.

"The law is very clear," Scott says, "that these off-track messenger services are illegal. Whether a company says it is a not-for-profit or a for-profit firm, it cannot evade the law."

"These private clubs have begun springing up in Chicago, many times in the same buildings where messenger services once operated. This is intolerable and I cannot allow it to continue."

"If we are not allowed to intervene in this ongoing case," Scott continues, "we will file a suit on our own against this and other social clubs now in operation in Illinois."

3 face charges

Three youths involved in a break-in early this week at Emerson School, 20th and Benton streets, face possible juvenile court action. An 8-year-old boy was caught inside the school by a custodian and information given by the boy led to the arrest of his 12-year-old brother and the naming of a third boy.

One boy put molding clay in a window latch and on the front door lock during school hours so entry could be gained during the weekend. The custodian heard noises and saw one boy helping the 8-year-old drop through the window into the school. Nothing was taken or damaged.

The boys were to meet with juvenile authorities this week.

Health service contract

The Bi-State Development Agency has signed a contract awarding most health service responsibilities to the agency to the St. Louis Comprehensive Health Center.

In delivering the contract to the Center, Roy May, chairman, Bi-State Development Agency board of commissioners, expressed the agency's satisfaction in establishing health services with this firm.

The contract covers a two-year period for the provision of 1,400 pre-employment physical examinations and another 2,000 examinations that are required before employees may report to work after being absent due to illness or injury. 1,500 physical examinations required by the U.S. Department of Transportation, which specifies that all bus operators take a physical exam every two years.

The contract awarded to St. Louis Comprehensive Health Center is for approximately $100,000 over the two-year period.

Bi-State commissioners voted Dec. 8 to award the contract to Comprehensive, the low bidder. Medical Corp., St. Louis, had the contract for the health services the previous two years.

Comprehensive is described as a modern health facility with 150 employees and with all departments certified by the state.

Changes proposed in some age exemptions

The U.S. Department of Labor has announced proposed changes in the exemption status of two groups of employees under the Age Discrimination in Employment Act (ADEA). The guidelines, proposed by the department's Wage and Hour Division, explain circumstances under which exemptions would apply to certain executive and high policymaking employees and tenured employees at institutions of higher education.

Effective Jan. 1, 1979, these executive, high policymaking and tenured employees are exempt from the act's prohibition against involuntary retirement if they are aged 65 through 69.

In addition, the maximum age of individuals in the private and non-federal public sectors protected by the act will be extended from age 65 to 70 under 1978 amendments to the act.

While the exemption for executives and high policymakers is a permanent one, the tenured employee exemption is scheduled to be repealed on July 1, 1982.

Workers aged 40 to 65 are currently protected by the ADEA from arbitrary age discrimination in hiring, discharge, pay promotions and other aspects of employment.

Assistant Secretary of Labor for Employment Standards Donald Eilensburg said the interpretative changes are required by the 1978 ADEA amendments and were proposed to clarify various sections of the law. The exemption guidelines, which are part of the ADEA interpretative bulletin and regulations, were published in the Federal Register Dec. 12, 1978. Written comments on the proposals must be received by the Department of Labor no later than Feb. 12, 1979. A public hearing was held Jan. 8 in Washington.

Bergfield, president; Carrie Hart, vice-president; Grace Range, treasurer; Fern Johnson, secretary; and board members Kate Smith, Charles Kelly, Juanita Crawley, Frank Johnson, Karmy Edmonds, Evelyn Blattner, Irene Kadanec, Clyde Myers, Elna Hoover and Clara Schilling.

He then presented the gavel to Mrs. Bergfield, who announced her new committees and program for the coming year. She presented prizes and recognized birthdays. Ruby Corbitt presented the Past President pin to Mrs. Hoover in behalf of the organization.

Entertainment was provided by the Rhythm Band, which played special songs written by Dolores Klesh honoring Mrs. Hoover as past president, and two songs honoring Mrs. Bergfield, who also is a member of the band.

The next meeting of the AARP chapter will be Feb. 14 at the Township Center.

YOUNG ADULTS WITH ARTHRITIS TO MEET

Young Adults With Arthritis, a self-help group of persons aged 18-48 who suffer from various forms of arthritis, will meet Feb. 1, at 7:30 p.m. in the meeting room of Prudential Savings, 8020 Forsyth Boulevard.

The group provides emotional support for members in learning to cope with their disease, a spokesman at the Eastern Missouri Chapter of the Arthritis Foundation, (314) 421-3550, said.

Steady stream of homeowners files for assessment cutbacks

Most Quad-City residents who own their own homes will qualify for a reduction in the assessed valuation of their homes of up to $1,500, if they apply for the reduction by Feb. 15, and the Granite City Township assessor's office has become a very busy place, as the result.

The assessment reduction is designed to help offset some of the impact of a 1.11 multiplier being added to the assessment of Granite City Township and varying multipliers in other Quad-City area townships.

All of the increase in the assessed valuation between the 1977 and 1978 assessment, including the jump caused by the multiplier, can be offset the first year by the new reduction.

Each homeowner will qualify for assessment reductions up to $1,500 during the next four years. If the assessment jumps $1,500 or more between the 1977 and 1978 assessments, the entire amount of reduction can be used in the first year.

If, for example, a home's assessment increases $500 from 1977 to 1978, a $500 assessment reduction will be applied the first year, leaving $1,000 credit available for reductions in the second, third and fourth years.

However, the homeowners must apply each year to remain eligible for the assessment reductions, it was stressed.

A steady stream of homeowners is being processed by the Granite City Township assessor's office, but it reported applications are being completed quickly and there are no long waits.

Homeowners may speed the process by bringing the legal parcel number of his property and the 1977 assessed valuation (both are on the 1977 tax bills), but that information is readily available in the assessor's office if the homeowner is unable to find those figures.

Residents of Nameoki, Chouteau and Venice townships also are eligible for $1,500 assessment reductions and may contact their township tax assessor to apply.

OFFERING AID to Granite City residents

applying for tax assessment reductions of up to $1,500 over the next four years is Shirley Voegel, chief deputy in the Granite City Township Assessor's Office. Mrs. Voegel and other deputies in the office have all the information necessary to aid local homeowners in applying for the new assessment reduction, including the legal parcel number of each home and the 1977 assessed valuation.

Those calling will be asked to list their names and addresses. Other details concerning the project may be secured by calling the same number.

Seniors who are taken for hospital treatment and those in wheelchairs transported for other reasons via the specially equipped CHORBUS are included on the snow removal list.

Snow removal service for seniors is free

The free snow removal service for handicapped and disabled senior citizens living in Granite City Township is continuing in high gear, with 172 residents included on Monday's snow removal route.

Seniors taking part in the program are reminded the service is totally without charge and the Manpower employees working in the project are not allowed to accept money for the task.

Granite City Township Supervisor Nelson Hagnauer said today there has been some instances when senior residents along the snow route have offered payment, or asked what charge is made for the shoveling chore.

"This is a free service through the Manpower Development program and the township and work crews are not allowed to accept money," he stressed.

Eleven shovellers were hard at work Monday, clearing away the results of the weekend snowfall.

To determine if one qualifies for the service and also to be added to the snow removal route, senior residents of the township who are handicapped or disabled and wish to participate are invited to call 877-8584, between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. Monday through Friday.
